TIME TO FIND OUT WHAT ROADS WILL BE BUILT IN 1925 IN THIS COUNTY

Three Important Roads Need Attention In Line With Statement Made By Com'ision'r Wright.

LET US CINCH IT

Shortly after the first of this year State Highway Commissioner Wright when importuned for some improved roads in Clearfield county by representatives of the Clearfield County Good Roads Association, informed the inquirers that he had his program arranged covering the period of the remaining three years of his administration, which program would not allow of any state road work in Clearfield county except the two sections near DuBois and the state aid sections in Decatur, Woodward and Bigler townships, linking Osceola and Houtzdale and Houtzdale and Madera. In the same conversation he also stated that the program also provided for the completion of every foot of the 38 miles of secondary highways in Clearfield county by the end of 1926.

That being so, and if the Highway Commissioner has not changed his plans—and we don't believe he has—it appears to us that now is the time for the Good Roads Association and County Commissioners to get busy and find out from the State Highway Commissioner just what his 1925 program for Clearfield county consists of.

There are three secondary highways in Clearfield county incompleted. Of these the road leading from Allport to the Centre county line is of first importance, serving as it does the heavily populated districts of Morris and Cooper townships, the latter being the pioneer improved road enthusiasts of Clearfield county. Cooper was the first township whose citizens possessed the foresight and business judgment to warrant the expenditure of their own good hard money for improved roads. They accordingly constructed a considerable stretch of macadam road in their township and it was this example that served to educate many Clearfield and Centre county people into becoming good roads boosters.

Surveys were made on this route the past summer and the stretch from the end of the concrete at Allport through Morris and Cooper to the Centre county line should be one of the first pieces of road built this year, if any is to be built in the county.

The route from Osceola to the Cambria county line above Coalport has been pretty well served the past couple of years and further construction in that end can well wait until the road mentioned is given attention.

The other secondary route entitled to consideration at the hands of the

"NOKOMIS", MEANING DAUGHTER OF THE MOON, LIKELY TO BE THE NAME CHOSEN FOR NEW DIRIGIBLE

Lakehurst N. J., Oct. 16. (INS.)—While the crew of the ZR-3 lolled about here today resting after their historic flight from Germany, their officers prepared to go to Washington for a meeting there with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

They will return in time for a dinner Saturday to be given for the ships' complement by the Goodyear Zeppelin Company. Save for 15 who are to stay here for three months, they will return soon to Germany.

The German crew of the ZR-3 thus far have been unable to understand all the excitement their arrival created. To them it was just part of the day's work.

The work of deflating the great gas bag proceeded today. Supports were shored to the bag to hold it in place as its gas was permitted to flow out.

The ZR-3 will remain limp until it is filled with helium gas. The hydrogen gas being taken from the 13 cells through valves in the top will not be conserved, but permitted to escape into the air.

Officers of the air station explained that tanking of hydrogen gas under pressure is a dangerous undertaking and, considering the probable impurity of that in the ZR-3 hardly worth attempting in this case.

After the dirigible is re-filled with helium gas and has made a number of test flights it will be commissioned and re-christened. A name has not yet been decided upon, although the one already widely favored is "Nokomis," daughter of the moon, to match the name of the sister ship, "Shenandoah," daughter of the stars.

Have Definite Clue To Identity of Abbotstown Bandit And Murderer

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 16. (INS.)—Finger prints, smeared in oil on the license tag of the automobile abandoned by the slayer of State Policeman Francis L. Haley at Caledonia Park on Tuesday afternoon, have furnished state police with a definite clue as to the identity of the bandit-murderer.

Orders were issued by Major Lynn D Adams, head of the Pennsylvania state police to arrest a New York state resident.

The license tags, rolled up like a carpet, and hurled in the heavy undergrowth in the South Mountains, furnished police with the clue that will prove the solution of the murder, state police said.

The little red car was found abandoned along a lonely mountain pass. The owner had saturated the car with gasoline, and then ignited it. However he had taken off the license plates and after rolling them up, threw them into a ravine some distance away.

Although two garage mechanics working near Fayetteville positively identified the photograph of Gerald Chapman as the man who had stopped at their garage in a similar make of car as that found abandoned, state police today said the slayer was not Chapman.

The man hunted is Philip A. Hartman, a resident of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who is alleged to have stolen the car he drove thru Pennsylvania at Rochester, N. Y.

BANISTER RAIL BREAKS; MAN DIES OF A FRACTURED SKULL

DAVIS BELITTLES LA FOLLETTE BY ASSERTING BELIEF IN COMMON SENSE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 16.—The future of America is safe against the invasion of Bolshevism, John W. Davis declared today in a tribute to the "commonsense and patriotism" of the American people.

The Democratic candidate took occasion, while enroute from Quincy, Ill. to fill a two days speaking engagement in Chicago to denounce attacks upon his progressive rival, Senator Robert M. LaFollette. While disagreeing with the LaFollette theory of government, Davis declared there was no need for the American people to feel alarmed over Republican charges that the Progressive nominee sought to overthrow the constitution.

"I decline to share the views of General Dawes and other Republicans who lie awake nights and ask their fellow citizens to join in their insomnia for fear that some red lurking around the corner, will get them if they close their eyes," Davis said "In my sober judgment there are not 110 millions of misguided men in this country.

"There are some men with very wild ideas but when I go across the country from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic, I see a sturdy intelligent citizenship. I do not tremble for the future of America and I know these currents are but rivulets that are lost in the great ocean of common sense and patriotism that swells across this land.

"The heart of the American people I am profoundly confident, is sound to the core."

Attacks upon LaFollette, Davis charged were mostly 'smoke screens' sent out by the Republicans to confuse voters and to turn attention from the record of the Republican Administration. The issue of the campaign he insisted, was the Re-

"Shenandoah" Takes Off For Camp Lewis, Wash., At 9:16 This Morning

North Island, San Diego, Cal., Oct. 16 (INS.)—Glinting in the sunlight like a huge silver bobbin, the navy dirigible Shenandoah shoved off from her mooring mast here at 9:16 a. m., today for Camp Lewis, Wash., final goal on her maiden trans-continental flight.

The Shenandoah arrived here early last Saturday and had been delayed for repairs of damage sustained on the Fort Worth-San Diego hop and a storm in the northwest.

The officers of the big cruiser had exepected to get under way about two hours earlier but a light blanket of fog retarded the solar heating of the hellium gas.

GIRL, 17, BEHEADED WHEN AUTO TURNED OVER AT GALETON

Wellsboro, Pa., Oct. 15.—Fabra Conable, 17-year-old daughter of Mack Conable, of Galeton, formerly commissioner of Potter county, was reported killed in an auto accident at Walton above Galeton, last night. at Walton, above Galeton, last night. She was said to have been beheaded. Two girls of approximately her own age, Marie Prouty and Frances Stevens, all of Galeton, were in the car with her. Miss Prouty, who was driving, lost control of her car and it ran into a bank and turned over. The other two girls received only minor injuries.

When the lights went out on the automobile of D. Kitchen, Wellsboro lumberman, while on the narrows below Persey Mills Saturday night, the car went over a two-foot embankment. Kitchen was accompanied by his wife and daughter and Mr and Mrs. John Collins of Wellsboro. Collins is in the Jersey Shore hospital with a fractured skull and limbs. It is feared he cannot live. Kitchen sustained a broken collar-bone. The others are seriously bruised and cut

GEORGE BASSETT TO BATTLE MR. BROPHY FOR U. M. W. OFFICE

Complete returns have not yet been received from the primary held on Tuesday by the United Mine Workers of District No. 2, but sufficient is known of the results to state that John Brophy, president of the district, will be opposed for re-election by George Bassett, a well-known member of the ranks from South Fork. James Mark, of DuBois, the present vice president, will be opposed by Jerry Ford, of Patton. Mr. Ford is a former resident of DuBois and is quite well known here. He created somewhat of a stir in a convention in that city by introducing a resolution in favor of light wines and beers. The detailed results of the primary will be made known at a later date. The election comes in December.

Smith yesterday via the elopement route, when she became the bride of Alfred E. Smith, Jr.

HEARD DADDY OVER RADIO

Clearfield radio fans had a full house last evening when friends of J. Mitchell Chase, State Commander of the American Legion, gathered about the many apparatuses about town to hear Commander Chase broadcast a Legion address from station KDKA, Pittsburgh.

Among the interested "listeners in" were Commander Chase's father, John M. Chase, and "Mitch's" three-year-old son Henry. The first and third generation had no trouble in recogonizing the voice of the speaker and little Henry insisted on talking back to "Daddy."

1800 Cattle Were Shot Here

They were very business-like. No bullets were wasted. With 2000 rounds of ammunition, a squad of officials fighting the hoof and mouth plague at Houston, Tex., shot and killed 1800 cattle that had been herded into an immense grave. Rifles "rap-rap-rapped" in a monotone of death until the trench was filled with the lifeless bodies of cattle. Then a steam shovel covered up the trench with earth.

BRITISH ELECTION A TITANTIC BATTLE; RIOTING ALREADY

By DAVID M. CHURCH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 15.—Bitterness over the approaching election is increasing daily and manifesting itself in demonstrations at campaign meetings.

Sir Robert Gower, Tory candidate at Hackney, was forced to call off a meeting and was escorted from the hall under guard. Several tory meetings at Battersea have been broken up.

Twenty were injured, three seriously, when a West Belfast mob attacked Harry Midgely, Laborite candidate and hurled stones until police dispersed the rioters. It is feard that Midgley was seriously injured.

The religious issue has been brought into the campaign by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express which recently at great length "the Soviet persecution of Catholic priests" and declares that as a result Catholics must support Labor candidates.

The Daily Herald charges that the press is controlled by Lord Rothermere deliberately juggling figures to show that unemployment increased under Labor regime.

Pro and anti-Russian posters are plastered over the countryside and in various London displays many such posters.

Chancellor Bowman Will Divulge Reason For Dr. Hall-Quest Resignation

Pittsburgh Pa. Oca. 16 (NS.)—Chancellor John G. Bowman head of the University of Pittsburgh this afternoon refused to amplify the University's attitude toward the resignation of Dr Alfred Lawrence Hall Quest, dean of extra-mural work at the school in the face of a growing demand on the part of students and business men of the city that Dr. Hall-Quest be retained despite the publicity following announcement of his divorce from Mrs. Hall-Quest so she could join her "perfect lover" Major Frederick Hart of Evanston, Ill.

University officials discounted reports that the 8,500 undergraduates at the University are planning "a strike" to force Dr. Hall-Quest's retention.

"Did you discharge Dr. Hall-Quest?" Chancellor Bowman was asked.

The chancellor refused to answer.

Dr. Hall-Quest maintained silence today regarding his resignation stating that all information concerning it must come from University authorities. He suggested that it was the place, of Chancellor Bowman to give any interview pertaining to his leaving the University.

Mrs. Willow's Fate In Jury's Hands This Eve.

murder and who named Mrs. Willow as the instigator, will be offered as evidence. Their authenticity was established by a handwriting expert yesterday.

Written on pieces of scrap paper and the backs of chewing gum wrappers, the letters, according to former Judge A. W. Johnson, chief of defense counsel, reveal Shadel as a morbid, lustful youth and clear Mrs. Willow of any connection with the crime by repeated admissions that "I lied to save myself." If they are admitted as evidence they will be read in private to the jury.

With one or two more witnesses, the defense will then rest its case. Both sides say their rebuttal testimony will be brief and pointed. Ralph Shadel will likely be the star witness for the prosecution because of Mrs. Willow's testimony on the stand yesterday.

For four hours Mrs. Willow, under the friendly questioning of her counsel, told of the brutality of Harvey Willow and flatly denied she had ever plotted the death of her husband with the youth. She put entire blame on Shadel. She denied statements that appeared in her confession. Not once could the state trap her or make her change her story, under a rigid cross examination.

She was not the hysterical witness that many expected. Rarely did she falter for an answer; often she anticipated the end of long questions and answered them before the questioner had finished. Not once did she appear nervous. Often she smiled.

When Judge Miles Potter finishes his charge to the jury this afternoon, the mysterious slaying of Harvey Willow will be a closed incident.

Willow was found dead in a woods on Dec. 11 of last year. Eight months later Ralph Shadel, who had been a hireling on the Willow farm, was arrested. He confessed on August 3, and said Mrs. Willow made him "get rid" of Harvey because of the illicit love affair between himself and her. Shadel was convicted of second degree murder last week and sentenced to the penitentiary for not more than 20, nor less than ten years.

Before today is over Mrs. Willow may know her fate. Her counsel said they would be satisfied with nothing but acquittal.

Foreign Born Citizens Get Mighty Fine Advice From President Coolidge

Washington, Oct. 16.—"Be true to the land of your origin by first being true and loyal to America."

This was the advice given by President Coolidge today to a large delegation of foreign born citizens who called at the White House to pledge him their support in the campaign.

"Those who cast their lot with this country," the President told them, "can be true to the countries of their origin only by first being true and loyal to the country of their adoption."

The President's callers consisted of 40 members of the advisory commission of the foreign language division of the Republican national committee. They presented Mr. Coolidge with a memorial stating that the vast majority of citizens of foreign origin would support the Republican ticket in November. The President replied with a short address from the south portico of the White House.

Careless Letter Writers

It is said that 200,000,000 pieces of mail yearly receive "directory service," which means that postal employees must take time from the regular handling and dispatching of mail in the endeavor to provide correct addresses. This service costs approximately $500 daily in the city of New York alone.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Eight counties have been closed to the hunting of various kinds of game by the Board of Game Commissioners, and the closed season acted upon last year continued until the general open season of 1925-26, Seth E. Gordon, secretary of the board, announced.

There will be no open season this year for deer in Berks and Susquehanna counties; no open season for bear in Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland counties; no open season for wild turkeys in Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland counties; no open season for ruffed grouse in Allegheny and Montgomery counties; no open season for ringneck pheasants in Allegheny, Bradford, Cameron, Fayette, Luzerne, Lycoming, Montgomery, Lancaster, Somerset, Sullivan, Susquehanna and Wyoming counties; no open season for quail of any kind in Fayette, Luzerne, Lycoming, Montgomery and Susquehanna counties; no open season for quail in Allegheny county, excepting between November 20 and November 30, inclusive; no open season for woodcock in Warren county excepting from November 1 to November 30, inclusive.

The counties closed to the various kinds of game will, so far as possible, be stocked by the Board of Game Commissioners during the closed term in an effort to increase the various game birds and animals to such an extent that good hunting will be provided when the closed season expires.

Political enemies of Sheriff 'Buckey' Norris of Cameron county, who are attempting to "get something on" the Sheriff because he has been entirely too rude with Cameron county bootleggers are making the taxpayers of little Cameron pay dearly for the attempt to put the doughty little Sheriff out of business. The Emporium Press, in speaking of this war of the bootleggers on the Sheriff says:

"It may interest hard-working citizens of Cameron county to know just what the initial cost of the six weeks period of investigation has been to "get" something on Sheriff Norris, for which, to please a few who would like to see him ousted from office, the county pays the cost.

"At the present time there are in the files of the County Commissioners three bills which sum up to the grand total of $3,219.33 paid to Charles J. Margiotti for attorney fees and expenses. Mr. Margiotti is the attorney for the prosecution in the several cases of Commonwealth vs. J. W. Norris.

"One bill called for a check of $1,500 for the attorney fees of Margiotti in the case of Commonwealth vs. Norris.

"Another is for $1,219.33 for the expenses of Margiotti and for the services and expenses of his two assisting attorneys, Pugliese and Doba. The statement of the services of Pugliese for a period of twenty-seven days is $405.60 and for his expenses $197.37. The statement of the services of Doba for a period of twenty four days is $250.00 and for his expenses $190.05. The statement of the expenses of Margiotti is $77.51.

"Still another bill of $500 was paid to Margiotti as retainer fee for the Commonwealth vs. Papalieo.

"These, however, are only the beginning. The worst are yet to come, after the trial.

"Are these bills an acknowledgement of the incompetency of our District Attorney on a case which he should be handling, or is it an acknowledgement of the weakness of the Commonwealth's cases against Norris that a skilled attorney and his two assistants as well as a corps of State Police must be secured to dig out information from a bunch of bootleggers?

"The county apparently has unlimited funds to pay for the prosecution of a man who has obviously been too zealous in exacting enforcement of the Volstead Act in Cameron county especially in the vicinity of the Emporium Borough, but how much money has been spent in a search for the murderer of a respected county farmer, Charles Ludwig? Did the District Attorney secure a dozen or so skilled detectives here to follow up clues and ferret out the murderer? He did not. Did the District Attorney urge that a reward for the capture of the murderer of Chas. Lurwig be offered by the County Commissioners until fifty one days after the murder was committed? He did not.

"If half the zeal and money that has been used in "getting" the Sheriff had been used to find the murderer of Ludwig, he would have been caught and convicted a dozen times over.

"It makes all the difference in the world who you are trying to 'get'.

"But the county pays the costs just the same."

Tarring and feathering was once a legal punishment. It was introduced into England by Richard I, who, before setting out on the Third crusade, in 1189, established this penalty to discourage robbery among his men.

WILD GEESE ARE FLYING

The first flock of wild geese to leave their northern feeding grounds and wing their flight southward passed over Clearfield last evening shortly after dark.

They were on the lookout for the ZR-3 or some other air flivver because they were honking their fool heads off for a clear track when they shot across the air mail route over our town.

WITNESS DEMONSTRATION

About one hundred Ford dealers from the surrounding towns in this section were in Clearfield yesterday witnessing a demonstration of the Fordson tractor and Weir grader shaping up some of the dirt streets of Clearfield.

Of Venetian Origin

The word "fiasco," meaning a failure, is an Italian word and originally meant a flask. Venetian glassblowers were very keen craftsmen, and if one of them detected the smallest flaw in his handiwork, he turned it into a fiasco or common flask, and so the word came to be applied to any kind of failure.

Good Enough Reason, Too

The reason why a lot of men are bachelors is because they failed to embrace their opportunities.—From Illinois State Journal.

CHARMING ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. Boynton Nevling entertained Tuesday evening at the Country Club the choir and the music committee of the Trinity Methodist Church at a turkey dinner. After the dinner, Mr. Nevling acting as toastmaster, there were speeches by A. H. Woodward on "The Old Church Choir"; by H. B. Powell on "The Relation of the Music Committee To the Choir and to the Church," and by Walter Kennard on "What Should Be the Attitude of the Congregation to the Choir."

The guests then amused themselves by having an old-fashioned spelling bee, spelling the words backwards. Impromptu charades formed a part of the pleasure of the evening. Paul Stauffer amused the crowd with several humorous songs. One of the most enjoyable things was the spontaneous singing of old songs throughout the evening. Fifty guests were present.

Chinese Civilization Ancient

When the people in almost all Europe were still wearing skins for clothes the Chinese were a highly cultured people. While Europe was just getting acquainted with the crudest tools, Chinese artisans were using highly developed implements for skilled work, thus showing that Chinese civilization is one of the most ancient.

Girls' Sturdy Coats of Material That Wears

Getting a coat for the school girl is a real problem. First, the coat must be good looking. Then, it must be of a material that will stand the hard wear the girls give their coats at school.

We have coats here for school-girls that are a combination of good looks, good material and good wear—quite a trio.

Another important item is the price. And our prices are very comprehensive. Starting at $5 for a very good coat they go on up to about $20.

A TREE-LOVING FARMER

I. D. O'Donnell of Billings, Mont., has a farm one mile square, with a solid row of trees around his four-mile fence line. A lane running through the middle of the farm is bordered all the way with box-elder. The irrigation canal which flows through the property is lined with trees on both sides. Every bit of space on those 640 acres not absolutely needed for other purposes, and capable of bearing trees, is forested. There are many thousand trees on the place, representing every native Montana species.

Moreover, every farm in the neighborhood is stocked with trees from the O'Donnell farm. Billings streets are full of trees from the same source. And O'Donnell has made a practice, for many years, of giving a tree, on arbor day, to every public school in the city.

This specialization has not prevented the O'Donnell farm from being known, far and wide, as a "model farm" in every respect. But it is known especially for its arboreal beauty and the influence it has had in bringing charm and profit to a wide area of what otherwise might have been mere farm land, unadorned and unattractive.

Along with his tree culture, O'Donnell takes an unusual interest in birds. The birds naturally go with the trees. The birds are good for the trees and the trees are good for the birds. And both are good for the farmers. O'Donnell, according to Sunset Magazine, "believes that if he can interest the farmers in birds, he will be able to induce them to plant trees; and where trees are planted, you have more attractive homes and more contented families; and keeping the family contented is one of the problems of the farmer today."

Here is something which the farmer can do for himself, the value of which cannot be exaggerated. In example alone, this Montana farmer is one of the great benefactors of American agriculture.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

The Rev. Charles L. Goodell, secretary of the evangelism committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, is not impressed by current arguments about the decadence of the church. He says that critics who sneer about only 40 per cent of the people being affiliated with the Christian church, and only a few of those believing sincerely in the church tenets, do not know what they are talking about.

Figures compiled by the Federal Council last April, he says, show that the Christian churches in this country, Protestant and Catholic, have over 45,000,000 communicants. But this, he insists, does not show the real numerical strength of the church. He argues that the Protestant denominations, in order to marshall all their affiliated population, as the Roman Catholics do, should multiply their reported total of communicants by two and one-half. If this were done, he says, it would show that altogether there are over 100,000,000 people affiliated with our Christian churches.

The secretary is doubtless right in the general view that the Christian church is a greater force in America than many persons realize. Nevertheless there certainly has been a weakening of the church bond and a relaxing of old beliefs. A religious group of 100,000,000 people to whom their religion was a vital force would be a tremendous factor in the national life.

GRAIN CLOSING

Chicago, Oct. 16. (INS)—The grain market slumped off sharply in the closing hours of trading today and finished lower.

Wheat closed 2 at 2⅝ cents lower; corn finished 4 at 4⅝ off and oats closed at 1¾ lower.

Heavy liquidation, inspired by weakness in corn, was responsible for the break in wheat, the burden being too great to be halted even by the influential buying which developed on the slump. There was bullish news from Argentine which placed the crop estimate there at 75 per cent of that of last year.

The decline in corn came rather unexpectedly and was attributed to profit taking by big holders. The slump started immediately after the opening and the market continued to drop throughout the session with little support except from shorts.

The break in corn was responsible for the easing off of oats prices near the close, when buying became greatly restricted. Provisions met with good buying and closed strong.

Progress Editorials for Women

"LET THEM SAY"

By FLORENCE DAVIES

"Delia said, 'If you face the house this way won't people think it's funny?' And the architect said, 'Mrs. Reeves, the only way to face it so that some people won't think it's funny would be to put it on a pivot.'"

There had been a good deal of trouble with the whole life of Delia Reeves. She had literally tried to face her life so that people wouldn't talk. But they had talked and she had listened, and had made a sorry wreck of things for herself. For the trouble with listening to talk is that you must always dance to another's tune.

Delia Reeves is the central figure in a new novel by Emanie N. Sachs, which is fittingly named "Talk." For it was talk, cruel, critical, gossiping, idle talk that took the life of Delia Morehouse, later Delia Reeves, and beat and twisted it into the unlovely thing it finally became.

The story is that of a really gifted young woman who was left an orphan without any means of support save that of a small book shop. For this she had a real gift. But at housework she was a miserable failure. When she chose to marry the poor man she loved, the cruel talk of a conservative southern town kept her from going with the thing she could do well, and put her in a house which she kept badly, thus making her a miserable failure.

More than once after that she made the wrong decision because she was afraid to talk, afraid of what people would say. But they always talked just the same, just as they always will.

If in her own heart she had known that the things she wanted to do were wrong, how justly might she have dreaded "What people said." But in that case, she would have needed no accusation from others. Her own sense of right would have been prod enough. But even knowing she was right she lacked courage. She couldn't stand what they would say.

What a slave to that worst and most cruel of tyrants was poor Delia. Talk, that most delightful of all diversions, that most enlightening and rewarding of all pastimes, can be the most tyrannical, the most heartless, the most cruel.

Alas for Delia, she should have taken a page out of the book of the old Earl Marshall of Aberdeen, upon whose estate the great Scotch University was founded.

His enemies quarreled with him over some land, but he refused to bicker with them. Instead, he took as the motto of his house, "They say. What they say? Let them say."

If you know you are right, nail that motto to your flag mast.

"They say—" —we can not stop them, for the world is full of idle chatter, much of it is harmless, some of it cruel. Poor Delia trimmed her sails to the winds of talk and lost her way.

"What they say?" If, like Gallahad your heart is pure—"Let them say."

PENNSY-GRAMS

Philadelphia.—A car selling for $4,000 when new was auctioned off for $13.20 yesterday at the sale of motor vehicles seized by prohibition agents conducted here by United States Marshal Mathues. The purchasers bought blindly, bidding according to numbers drawn from a hat. The average price during the sale was $27.06.

Philadelphia.—With the selection of a jury copleted at a special session last night, the trial of Violet Dickerson 19-year-old girl mother, for complicity in the murder of Louis Thursch during a holdup here, will proceed today. It is expected the same witnesses will be called as those who testified against Charles Oeffinger, her "pal" during the holdup, who is now under sentence of death for the crime.

Media.—A new trial has been asked for Magistrate D. Martin Yerkes, known as the "fining squire," who was found guilty yesterday of extortion, malfeasance, misfeasance and misdemeanor in office. Under the law he is liable to removal from office and may get a sentence of three years.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15 (INS.)— Following close behind his week when he attempted to kill his young wife from whom he was separated, Charles Morrell, 22, forced his way into the room where she was sleeping early this morning and fired three bullets into her body while she pleaded with him to spare her life.

Morrell then fled to his own home where he fired a bullet into his temple just as two policemen arrived to arrest him. Both were taken to St. Agnes hospital. Though suffering from wounds in her shoulder, arm and wrist, Mrs. Morrell is expected to recover. Her husband will probably die.

Morrell attempted to shoot his wife Sunday morning in front of the bakery where she is employed but Mrs. Morrell knocked the pistol from his hand and he fled. Later he returned and was confronted by a policeman who arrested him. He was held under $300 bail to keep the peace.

Convinced he would make another attempt Mrs. Morrell had taken a room over the bakery for safety. Morrell pursued her there.

October Meeting D. A. R. A Pleasant Event At The Home of Mrs. Frank Reed

The October meeting of the Susquehanna Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Reed on Old Town Road. The regular program was delightfully varied by a loan exhibition of revolutionary relics and genuine antiques, the cherished property of members of the chapter. Mrs. Reuben [illegible] had charge of this feature and as the roll was called each of the [illegible] members in attendance responded with name of her honored ancestor and a short resume of the service he rendered during the most momentous period of American history. A brief explanation of each particular article on exhibit was also given and many interesting and entertaining facts and incidents of early days were recounted.

Mrs. Edmund Gros, of Paris, a life member of the chapter, and Mrs. H. P. Sadtler of Baltimore, a guest of the chapter regent, Mrs. James P. O'Laughlin, were among those present at the meeting.

Tea and sandwiches served by the hostesses of the occasion brought to a close a most enjoyable afternoon.

ENTERTAIN THEIR WIVES

The members of the Crooked Run Hunting Club entertained their wives last evening at a sumptuous dinner at the club house located in the mounts twelve miles north of Clearfield. There were seventy-seven people present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

nie Mack of the Athletics (American can League) for $100,600.

The deal was consummated without competitive bidding. Connie Mack opened negotiations with Jack Dunn, owner and manager of the Orioles, while the Athletic's manager was attending the little worlds series games here. Connie saw Groves pitch his last game against St. Paul and was greatly impressed by the left hander's speed and control.

Groves is but twenty-three years old. During the past season he won thirty-three of his games and lost but six. Five of his winning games were twirled against teams in the major leagues.

Lefty was found two years ago in the obscure Chambersbur team of the Blue Ridge League by Jack Dunn, Jr. Since then he was rapidly forged to the front as one of the greatest portside hurlers in the game.

Ten Arrests In Chicago End Conspiracy Which Had Branches In Big Middle West Cities.

BOSS FLYER CA'GHT

By CARL W. HARRIS
I. N. E. Staff Corespondent

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A nation-wide liquor scandal and arrests of millionaire bootleggers in all parts of the country was predicted here today as Federal prohibition agents announced the collapse of a gigantic airplane rum smuggling ring through ten sensational arrests here.

The rum syndicate, federal officers claim, carried on systematic airplane traffic in liquor and fancy wines between the United States and Cuba, and maintained branches in many cities of the country where the contraband goods was cut, rebottled, relabeled and peddled out in thousand gallon lots to retail distributors. Its deals, the officers say, ran into millions and it was responsible for the making of an entire army of new capitalists.

Evidence necessary to make the first ten arrests, the officers revealed had been gathered for nearly a year, two big warehouse raids here furnished much of the information which planes at the Chicago aero club and has four expensive automobiles as part of his personal equipment.

Officials say it was he who directed the syndicate's operations and arranged for the transportation by rail of huge shipments of liquor from Florida to all parts of the country.

Others arrested include Edward F O'Brien, alleged partner of Pinkussohn and said by Federal officers to be the holder of the Chicago "concession"; Joseph Wurtzburg, owner of a chain of drug stores here which are said to have acted as distribution centers for the syndicate; Louis Bittner, manager of a large storage and warehouse company where it is said carloads of real whiskey and real champagne which as yet had not been "cut" were found; Robert Malquist, foreman of warehouse and lesser lights who served as the "hired hands" of the syndicate, never coming into contact with its real heads.

William Rowles, the seven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rowles of Grampian, who was operated on at the Clearfield hospital several days ago for a bad case of telescoped bowels, is improving finely at this time, according to Grandpa John P. Rowels, who, with Grandma Rowles, was down to see the little patient yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs A. C. Pierce and family have returned from a week's trip in the eastern part of the state.

the alleged abduction of Violet Marcus 14-year-old daughter of a Pittsburgh restaurant owner.

According to testimony at the hearing, the girl was taken away from her home on Oct. 6, and brought to Sharon. Several days later she was forced into a marriage with Grace at Mercer, the girl declared with tears streaming down her cheeks as she related the degradation she had undergone. The girls mother collapsed during the recital of her daughter's story.

Mrs. Brown and Grace were committed to jail in default of $2,000 bail.

Sport Notables Who Double in Brass

Is the day of the specialist passing in sports? The season's developments would seem to answer yes. Georeg Von Elm who went to the finals in the amateur golf championship is an amateur boxer of rare ability. K. y. K. Browne, a finalist in the women's golf championship, is one of the country's leading tennis stars. Charles Brookins, best hurdler in America, is now starring for Iowa on the football gridiron. And don't forget Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington champions, is one of the best basketball players in the professional ranks.

MESSAGE TO LEGION

AT THE sixth annual national convention of the American Legion held recently in St. Paul, the following message from President Coolidge was read in the convention hall in lieu of the President's attendance at the meeting:

"The thought of the world turns increasingly toward peace, its preservation and perpetuation. I am glad to be able to say to the Legion that this thought is more and more finding leadership and direction. We are justified, as never before, in the hope for great accomplishments, through the cooperation of the nations, in the ways of peace. You of the Legion, better than any others, know what war means. So I am happy to extend to you my confidence that highly important progress is making along the road which leads to the elimination of war from this world. You have done me honor in attributing to me ability to add to the inspiration which Legion members must always draw from contemplating their great part in the history of their country and the world. Theirs has been both in war and in peace, a record of unselfish readiness to serve."

WOMEN MEMBERS ARE LIVE LEGIONNAIRES

A bursting shell in the Chateau-Thierry area overturned an ambulance but the woman who was driving it was pulled out of the wreckage only slightly injured. That accounts for the fact that Mrs. J. W. Atkins is still alive—so much so that she is counted one of the livest Legionnaires of which the Lowe-McFarlane post of the Legion, Shreveport, La., boasts. The energy and spirit that enabled Mrs. Atkins to enroll many members in the Lowe-McFarlane post recently is the same she displayed in the great war.

She served six months as an ambulance driver at the French front with Miss Anne Morgan's famous unit, the American Committee for Devastated France, which did volunteer service with the Third French army. Mrs. Atkins, if she so minded, could relate many vivid and thrilling stories of her experiences while driving her ambulance and caring for the wounded. She was at the battle of Chateau-Thierry where her ambulance was overturned by a shell. "We were there to help and not to be helped and performed service just as a man," Mrs. Atkins says. She did all the repair work on her ambulance that did not require the service of a skilled mechanic. On one occasion she repaired 17 punctures in one day on her machine. Nor is Mrs. Atkins the only woman member of which Lowe-McFarlane post boasts.

Many years ago a sparkling little girl playing outside the walls of St. James palace in London caught the eye of a prince who called her to him and gave her a string of beads, saying: "You're a bright little girl; here take these beads to go with your brightness."

The prince later became King Edward of the British empire and the little girl grew into refulgent womanhood, retaining and emanating the same cheerful spirit, as a United States army nurse, which had once pleased the prince of Wales, and which, incidentally, is now pleasing the members of Lowe-McFarlane post of which she is a most active member and member-getter.

Mrs. Butler was born near St. James palace in London, but following her marriage came to this country. During the war Mrs. Butler "joined up" as a nurse and made existence brighter for the boys at Camp McArthur base hospital, Waco, Tex. Following her discharge she went to Shreveport, where she is successfully operating a small poultry farm known as "Blue Bird Cottage," a homey little bungalow place surrounded by flowers and shrubbery. Although Mrs. Butler lives 14 miles from Shreveport, "the little lady of Blue Bird Cottage" very rarely misses a Legion meeting and is always smiling when she gets there.

Legion Men Have Raft, but No Water in Lake

Legionnaires of Woodstown, N. J., know how disappointed Noah would have been if, after building him an ark, the promised deluge had not been forthcoming to float the said ark. Recently they builded them a raft of great dimensions to be floated upon the waters of the Woodstown and vicinity "Memorial Lake," only to have their raft left high and dry on the shores of a waterless lake. As a result of litigation with one of the abutting property owners the lake basin is an excellent replica of the Sahara desert, and to decide whether or not there shall be water in the lake, the good citizens of Woodstown will go to the polls soon. The Legionnaires have adopted as their campaign slogan, "Fill the lake to float our raft."

New Department Commander

Raymond G. Littlefield of James Stanton post, Central Falls, Rhode Island, was elected department commander of the Legion for Rhode Island at the annual convention of the Legion at East Greenwich recently.

It Happens Every Day

Keith's ambition was to hold down a good job instead of being held down by a poor one. But every time he started talking about changing to something better, his friends all said that this was no time to try a stunt like that—because it couldn't be done.

He was a born salesman and knew it, but his present duties consisted of running an adding machine and taking the other steps necessary to keep accounts straight.

He had gone to see a number of the employers in the city and told them about his plans to become the best salesman they ever saw. While admitting this was a worthy ambition, they explained that when it came to taking on a new man right now, it simply couldn't be done.

But instead of letting the "Can'ts" have it—Keith stopped in at the Progress office after work one day and let an ad taker help write a truthful, interesting ad about himself and what he wanted to do—

And three days later he had a letter asking him to call at the local offices of a national concern, for an interview about taking a position as junior salesman—and the next day he landed the job! Yet—

Everybody Said It Couldn't Be Done!

Time To Find Out What Roads Will Be Built

state and county road building authorities this year is the road up the river from Curwensville through Lumber City to the Cambria county line above Westover, which will serve to complete the county-seat-to-county seat routes to both Ebensburg and Indiana. This is an important thoroughfare and also should have consideration this year.

Some agitation has arisen over the possible changing of this route by crossing from Bell's Landing to Grampian instead of going via Lumber City. The advocates of this change in the route assert it would shorten the distance several miles and would be advantageous from that standpoint, with its cheapening of the cost of construction. Both are good points, we admit, but the route via Lumber City is the route provided for in the original Sproul plan. It has been so accepted for the past 14 years and can only be changed by action of the state legislature, which is hardly a possibility.

The state entered into a contract with the people along the original route to build the improved highway by that route in 1911, both sides kept that contract during the dark days following passage of the Sproul act, when the improved roads it provided for—sometime—were more in the nature of a forward-looking vision, than a "brass tacks" possibility in 1925. The people living in the area affected have kept the faith all these years and it is now up to the state and county highway building agencies to do likewise and we believe they will do so.

A road from Bell's Landing across to Grampian would be a good thing and we believe will come some day, but the road from Curwensville thru Lumber City, Bell's Landing, Mahaffey, to Westover should be built during 1925 and 1926 as promised by Highway Commissioner Wright, and we firmly believe that road will be built over that route as per the original Sproul plan.

But let us get busy and find out what is coming to Clearfield county in 1925 and when and where we may expect it.

Miss June Groft left Sunday for Vineland, N. J., where she will visit her brother, Walter Groft.

Chief of Police Harry Bauman, of Hollidaysburg, who is suffering from stomach trouble and neuritis is a patient at the Clearfield Hospital. The "big chief" has lost 67 pounds during the past few months.

Mrs. Minnie Brown and Miss Mabel Livingston have returned from Harrisburg where they spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Aller. "Sonny" Aller returned with them and will spend some time here while his parents are in Chicago on a visit.

Believe Tobacco Necessity

Spanish beggars do not think it necessary to conceal their cigar when asking for alms. Smoking is considered as necessary as breathing to every human being out of the cradle.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

Politicians -- Auctioneers Clergymen--Lecturers Singers

Anyone who speaks or sings in public whose voice is apt to grow husky or weak from the strain, will find that one Oxidaze tablet slowly dissolved in the mouth before speaking or singing, will make a world of difference. The voice stays strong and clear and natural even during an unusual strain.

Thousands of people have testified to the remarkable value of these pure essential oil tablets, which bring such quick relief in cases of Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Soreness, or Tickling in Throat, Bronchitis, Bronchial Irritation, Bronchial Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and as a preventive against Grippe, Influenza and Pneumonia.

One small inexpensive package of "Oxidaze" tablets will quickly prove the value of pure essential oil in cases of this kind; if they are always kept in the house for use in case of emergency, they may save you many days of serious illness or discomfort. Any good druggist, including Blose Drug Co., can supply you.

American Women Aware of Big Benefit Protective Tariff Has Proved to Home

THEY KNOW THAT WAGE EARNERS CANNOT FIND WORK TO KEEP THEM BUSY IF COMPETITION WITH CHEAP FOREIGN GOODS IS ALLOWED

This is the third of a series of five articles by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, and chairman of the Women's Division of that committee. Mrs. Hert discusses what she considers vital campaign issues from the woman's standpoint.

BY MRS. ALVIN T. HERT

The average American family is happy and prosperous today. The average American boy and girl have enough food and clothing to make them comfortable. For this we are all grateful. Every man and every woman who wants a job should have one.

There are fundamental laws of supply and demand. There are basic economic principles which must be satisfied before a job can be provided for the man who can fill it. The women of this country have demonstrated their ability to get at the real facts underlying any business problem. They are not satisfied with the half-truths which are frequently presented to them in tariff arguments.

It has been said frequently that women are the purchasing agents for the 25,000,000 families in the United States. This is true, but before they can purchase for these families, they must have money in their pockets.

Women refuse to accept the statement that what the United States needs is free trade in order that we may buy cheaply the products of other countries.

How can we buy unless the wage earner of the family has a job and is earning money?

There are two sides to this tariff problem, the buying and the selling. Under the Democratic one-sided theory of low tariff on imported goods, this country has suffered the worst pangs of unemployment.

With this system at work, American women have known what it meant to be unable to buy bread for their children. At the same time, American men have known what it was to tramp the streets looking for work.

As an interesting and significant contrast, we should bear in mind the fact that under a Republican protective tariff law the prosperity of this country has been such that women have been able to spend $40,000,000,000 per annum, or nearly 70 per cent of the national income, upon retail purchases.

Four years ago when the Republican party came into power in this country there were 5,000,000 men out of employment.

This condition of affairs is a decided contrast to the situation in August, 1924. Industry has known a great revival and agriculture is beginning to reap the benefits of restored prosperity. Wages have increased and complaint of unemployment is at an end.

President Coolidge in accepting the Republican nomination for President on August 14 last, said:

"As a source of revenue the tariff surpasses all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $500,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity defends itself against any criticism. Its merits are demonstrated by its results. We have protected our own inhabitants from the economic disaster of an invasion of too many foreign people or too much foreign merchandise."

The average American working man is accustomed to high wages and his family is accustomed to a higher scale of living than is possible for the family of any other working man in the world. He knows that it is of no avail to have goods on a department store shelf marked at a slightly lower cost if he is unable to earn the money to buy them.

The Republican party's record shows that it has continually advocated a protective tariff.

The Democrats charge that a protective tariff keeps out importations and destroys competition. It must be clear that even if a Republican protective tariff law did keep out importations, the inevitable effect would be to create new American enterprises of like character and thus increase domestic competition in even greater proportion than foreign competition is dimished.

A recent writer stated that a tariff law "which affords every advantage to foreign sellers in the American market to the detriment of American labor and industry can hardly be held to benefit this country. Here in America we know that we must produce and earn before we can spend and consume."

A tariff law which diverts American money from the payment of American wages to the payment of foreign wages cannot possibly benefit the American working man.

The women voters of this country have heard President Coolidge recount the large revenue which has come to this country with the present protective tariff in vogue. They know that unemployment has been ended. They know that there is a job for every man in this country. Women know that they have more money in the family pocketbook to purchase comforts for their families when manufacturers are encouraged to manufacture goods which they can sell at a profit and thus give employment to men and women who want to work.

This question of the tariff is far reaching and every thoughtful woman must understand that it is tied up in all directions with the income which the head of the family is able to earn. Every woman knows that it is vitally important that her husband should have an adequate income. Altogether the tariff demands of women this year a thoughtful answer when they go to the polls in November to cast a vote for the best interests of their families and the communities in which they live.

THOMAS W. MILLER HONORED BY FIDAC

Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, was elected president of the Fidac (Federation Inter-Allies des Anciens Combattants) at the London congress of that international body of veterans of the World war recently. Mr. Miller has announced that he will resign as alien property custodian, a position which he has held for a number of years.

With the honor to Mr. Miller there came another honor to America and to the American Legion at the congress. This was in the election of Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma as vice president of the organization.

In the Fidac all American veterans of the great conflict are represented by the American Legion. Fidac is composed of 10,000,000 veterans of the principal allied and associated countries. Its annual congress was held at New Orleans in 1922 at the time of the American Legion convention there.

The presidency of Fidac has from its organization until now rested with the French veterans. Charles Bertrand, a member of the French chamber of deputies, has held the position.

Mr. Miller was a colonel in the Seventy-ninth division in the World war. He was one of the members of the Paris caucus at which the first active steps looking towards the formation of the American Legion were taken.

The new president, it is understood, will devote his entire time to the activities of the Fidac. One of the questions, it is said, which confronts him is that of giving more concrete expression to the aspirations of the millions of veterans in Fidac.

Thought U. S. Flag Was Solid Crimson Block

Congressman A. Piatt Andrew, wearing a Legion button, recently addressed the sixth annual convention of the American Legion at Pittsfield, Mass., and in the course of his remarks told the following yarn:

"When the Harvard medical unit was in a little village in France in the early days of the war, the natives developed the idea that the United States flag was a solid block of crimson. In consequence whenever it became known that the Yanks were about to heave in sight, red blankets were draped from windows, red mufflers were unwound from children's necks and red flags were flown wherever possible. The peasant women unhitched their red petticoats, came to the doors of their cots and danced on the steps while they waved these underthings and joyously screamed, 'To 'ell wiz Yale, to 'ell wiz Yale,' as the lads marched by. This caused Ralph Robart of Cambridge, cheer leader, to call for three and a tiger for the Gloucester buddy."

Post in Massachusetts Builds Own Clubhouse

Methuen post of the American Legion at Lawrence, Mass., recently closed a deal whereby their post exchequer was enriched to the extent of several thousand dollars. Nor have they embraced the great profession born of the Eighteenth amendment. They merely contracted with themselves to build by themselves their clubhouse for themselves, and hence they now have a clubhouse which bighearted contractors would have been glad to put up for them at some five thousand dollars more than it cost them by doing their own labor.

Invests in Lung Motor

The Portsmouth (Va.) post of the Legion recently promoted a fund to purchase a lung motor to be used in reviving persons taken out of water, gas victims and others whose lives might be saved by forced inhalations of oxygen.

LIGHTING THE LIVING ROOM

The living room is usually not only the largest room in the house, but it is also the room that is most used. In most homes it serves as the sitting room, the parlor, the library and the music room.

Because we do so many different things in this room, we need lighting that can be changed and varied to suit our purpose. For example, if we wish to entertain our friends by dancing or playing cards, we should be able to flood the whole room with plenty of soft, cheerful light; if we wish to read or sew, we should be able to have the light come over our shoulder from behind a favorite chair; if we wish to play the piano and sing, we should have the music well lighted. At all times the lighting effect should be pleasant and attractive.

To get these effects, we need three different kinds of lighting equipment in the room. First we have a fixture hung from the ceiling with which we can flood the room with light; then we have table lamps and floor lamps which are portable and can be moved about as furniture is rearranged, to give a good reading light. Finally, we may have bracket fixtures on the walls, which give us charming spots of colored light—never too bright and only used to add attractive decoration to our other lighting.

"Bulbs" are known by the amount of electricity it takes to light them. The unit by which they are classified is the "Watt," and bills for electric lighting current are rendered in terms of a "kilowatt-hour," which is one thousand watts for one hour, or one hundred watts for ten hours.

The total watts needed in any room depends upon the size of the room, the kind of fixtures used, the color of the decorations and the lighting effect wanted. In most rooms good lighting may require as little as one or as much as five watts of bulbs for each square foot of floor area in the room.

Here are the things to think about when we want to be sure we have good lighting in the living room. 1. Do we have plenty of light where we need it? 2. Are all the bulbs well shaded so that we do not have any glare? 3. Does the lighting equipment look well in the room, and does it fit both lighted and unlighted with the furniture and woodwork?

THE CEILING FIXTURE

Unless the living room is very large only one fixture is needed on the ceiling. However, if the room is long and narrow—perhaps twice as long as it is wide, two ceiling fixtures should be used.

There are several kinds of fixtures which will provide good lighting in the living room. Some of these are shown in the Home Lighting Primer on page 22. Some are shown in the next picture.

The bulbs in these fixtures vary in number, but the total watts necessary for good lighting is from 100 to 250 watts.

The shades may be of glass, silk or parchment. They should completely hide the bulb and should be dense enough so that the whole surface of the shade is evenly lighted. A bright spot in the center of the shade means that the shade is not dense enough, and that some glare is present.

The use of all frosted bulbs will often do away with shadows of chains which would otherwise be cast on the ceiling.

PORTABLE LAMPS

Portable lamps include floor lamps, table lamps and small pedestal lamps, candlesticks, torcheres, etc., for mantel and bookcase. The best portable lamps have shades which are deep enough to hide the bulbs and dense enough to prevent glare. Some are built to send more light up toward the ceiling as well as down toward the table or floor. These use large bulbs and are designed to provide general lighting by reflection from the ceiling as well as local lighting. Portable lamps from which more is required than merely decoration will need bulbs which have a total of 50 to 100-watts or more; in the interests of economy, those which are merely a decoration do not need more than a 25-watt bulb. Duplex outlets in the baseboard permit the greatest convenience and use of portable lamps for lighting.

WALL BRACKETS

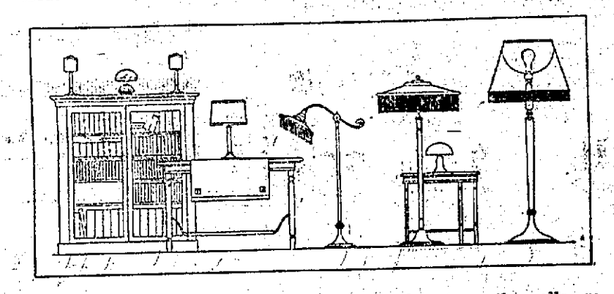
Sometimes people try to provide general lighting for the entire room with wall brackets. Except under unusual circumstances, this leads to one result—the use of larger bulbs whose brightness is annoying.



Bracket fixtures on the walls are merely decorative spots of colored light. Since they are almost always directly in front of the eyes of someone in the room, a light bright enough to furnish useful light soon becomes annoying and causes eyestrain.

It is most important that these be well shaded, so that glare does not prevent their effectiveness as a beautiful decoration. The use of bulbs larger than the 15 or 25-watt size cannot be recommended.

publican record in public office.

Davis arrived here early today from Quincy to address a local audience before leaving for Chicago, where he was due this afternoon.

Just before leaving Quincy, Davis issued a statement submitting what he contended was proof of his charges that "the Secretary of the Republican National committee had conspired with the department of Justice to obtain the indictment of Senator Burton K. Wheeler." This indictment, Davis had charged was a "black and dastardly crime" committed to halt investigation of the department" through misuse of the process of law."

Davis submitted extracts of the testimony given before theBrookhart Senatorial committee by William J. Burns, former head of the bureau of investigation in the Department and by BlairCoan who testified he was an agent employed by the Republican National Committee.

In his testimony quoted by Davis, Burns said he had discussed the indictment of Wheeler with former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty in the presence of Coan prior to the time it was returned.

Davis said that this testimony proved his charges of corruption in the Republican Administration of the Department of Justice.

CONGRATULATIONS

"THE American Legion is the peculiar guardian of the great traditions of the World war. Its posts, scattered throughout the country, teach, by their presence, the lessons which the next generation should learn. Your annual conventions challenge the thought of the country to the significance of the events out of which your organization grew. You are therefore appointed to be the teachers and leaders of patriotic activity and your sacrifices in France and your service at home are the seeds out of which progress is to grow in our country. I close this word of greeting and remembrance with my congratulations upon what you have done and the great opportunity for further service which lies at your feet."

Such, in part, was the message sent by Newton D. Baker, to the sixth national convention of the American Legion held in St. Paul recently.

MAY AID VETERANS IN INSTITUTIONS

In Oklahoma there is an organization sponsored by the American Legion, known as the soldiers' relief commission of Oklahoma, which has recently done a great service to those veterans of the World war who are confined to Oklahoma penal institutions and who, the commission finds, are for the most part either mentally deficient or suffering from physical disability. The Legion wants these facts taken into consideration in the care and treatment of these unfortunate evidences of a world at war. They base their appeal for reform and a new consideration of the incarcerated veteran upon the following facts disclosed by their survey of Oklahoma prisons:

Of the 358 former service men now confined in Oklahoma institutions, approximately 15 per cent of the whites and 10 per cent of the colored inmates were found to be either mentally deficient or otherwise psycopathic. One hundred and fifty inmates, former service men, were found to be suffering from physical disabilities. Twenty-one former soldiers in Oklahoma prisons are classed as illiterates; 20 have had no schooling whatever, while 72 mexican barely read and write. Only nine whites and two colored have completed high schools, a great majority having less than a common school education. Only 41 of the 358 confined are serving second sentences; 97 are married and 80 have children.

Apparently a large number of ex-service men were attracted to Oklahoma, following the war, in search of the liquid gold called oil. And then came the "dry holes" and the business depression, resulting in many of these men, abnormal in many instances and lacking the restraints of home in other instances, being led into trouble.

In presenting their report the commission made the following recommendations:

"The confinement in a penal institution of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine does not forfeit a claim on his part against the federal government, arising from his military service. Such men, however, are usually ignorant of their rights and very largely reluctant or helpless to assert them. The work done in connection with this survey is done with a view towards the establishment of these rights. We further recommend that a full-time neuro-psychiatrist expert be assigned to the prisons, that the prisoners may be closely observed and reclassified where necessary; construction of a psychopathic ward inside the prison walls, in which should be confined the mental defectives; better wards for tuberculars; separation of first offenders from hardened criminals and vocational training classes along lines of preferential selection by the inmate."

Georgia Legion Ready to Aid Atlanta Police

Asa W. Candler, national executive committeeman of the American Legion from Georgia, in a speech at Atlanta, pledged the moral support of the Argonne post of the American Legion to the Atlanta police department and offered active assistance if ever it should be needed. Mr. Candler declared: "The police force of Atlanta has been constantly hampered by interference of petty politicians. We are proud of our police force and are behind you in your efforts to enforce law and order. The Argonne post has more than 1,200 members, trained, organized and capable of meeting any emergency that may arise."

Curiosity

"And now," said the minister, concluding a talk before the Sunday school, "are there any questions you wish to ask?"

"Yes, sir," piped an urchin who had watched him intently. "Do you wear a shirt under that thing?"—American Legion Weekly.

Largest Post in Chicago

The Advertising Men's post of the Legion in Chicago, with a membership of 700, is the largest post in Chicago and the second largest post in the state. Recently Don Jose Mojica, tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera company, sang before a meeting of the post.

Aspiration

When you are aspiring to the highest place it is honorable to reach the second or even the third rank.

GOOD WOMAN IS CALLED

Mrs. Martha H. Jones, widow of the late F. H. Jones, and a former long time resident of Kylertown, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry M. Denning, at Philipsburg, on Wednesday morning last, of a complication of diseases and following an extended illness.

The deceased was a daughter of James and Hannah Devinney Aston, and was born in Huntingdon, Pa., in 1840, being therefore 84 years of age. She was united in marriage with F. H. Jones on June 20, 1866. He passed away Jan. 17, 1921. To this union five children were born, one of whom is deceased. Those surviving are Harry L., of Philadelphia; Grace, wife of Harry M. Denning, of Philipsburg, and W. Walter and Harvey C., both of Kylertown. She also leaves 15 grandchildren, two great grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, of Boalsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Jones had been an invalid for seven years. Her patience in suffering, christian fortitude, and her bright smile for everyone who was associated with her, will always be remembered. She professed conversion and united with the Methodist Chuch in early childhood, and all thru her long years exemplified a beautiful, consistent christian life.To what depth and extent her life touched and affected other lives for good, hundreds can testify. Hers was a most gentle, winsome and persuasive personality and at the same time remarkably strong. Her passing will be mourned by a large circle of friends.

Funeral services will be held in the M. E. church at Kylertown on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot in the Kylertown cemetery.

Lemon Tree Peculiar

One of the chief peculiarities of the lemon tree is that it carries both flower and fruit in all stages of development most of the year. The lemons are picked green and ripened in the dark. If picked when ripe they will not keep for any length of time.

Eagles Have Long Life

The biological survey says that some species of eagles have been known to live a hundred years. From records kept by the zoological societies of London it is shown that specimens in captivity lived to be forty-two, forty-six and fifty-five years of age.

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

Man sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to direction will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained.

The Stewart Drug Co. dispense MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice.

JOINT-EASE For Rheumatic or Otherwise

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets In--Joint Agony Gets Out"

It was a high class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at Stewart Drug Co. and druggists everywhere for 60c a tube.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Curwensville's Own Column

Miss Ruth Ellen Fleming gave a masquerade party to about twenty of her schoolmates last Friday evening. A very enjoyable time was had by all present. Refreshments and decorations were suitable for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Fleming, Bloomington avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bloom, New Bethlehem, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fleming, above Naulton.

Street Commissioner Dale has fixed the Filbert street creek bridge in a manner that will compel one way traffic whether drivers of vehicles like it or not. For months a large sign warning motorists that this structure was a one way driveway has been in place, but so little attention was paid to it that Council decided to make it impossibel for two machines to pass over at the same time.

Quite a number of the members of the Odd Fellow lodge attended the funeral of their deceased brother, Lewis Weber, from his home yesterday afternoon. A delegation of his friends and lifelong acquaintances was also present both at the home and at the cemetery.

Ed Gallagher is having a handsome stone wall porch erected at his new home on Thompson street. The work is of fine design and shows up very prettily from the street.

The large, new water dam now in course of erection out in the Bailey settlement by the Raftsman Water Company, will be completed within the next month. This dam together with the big reservoir above town will hold sufficient water that Curwensville patrons need never fear a shortage of water.

Mrs. Russell Underwood, of Latrobe, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank P. Bloom, on Centre State street. She is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Bloom.

The members of Grace Lutheran Church are having a new heating system installed in that church. The old equipment proved inadequate during the extremely cold weather.

Robert Miller and wife, of Chicago, spent several days with home folks on South street.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Davis and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Curtin, all of Philipsburg, were guests of Mrs. Howard Burkett one day during the latter part of last week.

Interpreting

A poet, in fact, like any other artist, must not simply transcribe nature. He must interpret her; and as she is too vast to be interpreted under all her aspects, he must select. Whether this selection is conscious or unconscious, it must be prompted not merely by his physical environment, but also by his intellectual attitude toward external nature.—E. Sykes.

Lot's Wife

On the island of St. Helena there is a curious and interesting rock called Lot's Wife. It stands erect on the crest of a ridge that runs across the barren and uninhabited part of the island, and it is supposed to be a mass of lava long ago forced up through a crack in the crust. It is nearly or quite 300 feet high and when seen from a distance bears a striking resemblance to a draped human figure of tremendous size.

First People in Britain

Geologists are not yet agreed when and by whom Britain was first peopled. Real knowledge began with the two Celtic invasions, that of the Goidels, in the latter part of the Bronze age, and that of the Brythons and Belgæ in the Iron age. By the time of Julius Caesar all the inhabitants of Britain, except perhaps some tribes in the North, were Celts in speech and customs.

Old English Residence

Probably the oldest inhabited house in England is Laddesdown court, Kent. The late Sir W. St. John Hope said that it dated from "1120 or perhaps earlier."

[illegible] Elliott, forty-one-year-old laborer, according to the divorce bill of Mrs. Flossie Elliott, filed in Superior court, became enraged at her on one occasion and kicked the windshield out of their automobile. Other allegations of cruelty are made.—From a news item in the Seattle Times.

Being One's Own Boss

"De man dat succeeds in bein' his own boss," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to find he's picked hisself out de hardest kind of a taskmaster."—Washington Star.

Wise Physicians!

In the Middle Ages physicians were accustomed to warn their patients against eating eels, because, in this way they would be sure to lose their colors.

Tested by Difficulties

Difficulties show what men are. If they do not overcome them they demonstrate lack of power in one direction or another. If they surmount them, they prove capacity of one kind or another. Difficulties test man as nothing else can.—Grit.

Monster Crabs

Many of Japan's quaint prints show the crab and fisherman on the beach. The king crabs found mostly off Japanese islands measure from 3 to 5 feet from tip to tip of their great claws, and there is a record of one monster which measured 10 feet from tip to tip.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

John Lumpkins, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Come to 7 Carrie St., and I will show you 25 pieces of travel that passed after taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). Had to get up 12 times at night for two years. Alright now." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder like Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost two cents each. Sold at leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Stewart Drug Co.

Skirts Are Scanty

This very attractive frock is carried out in beige in two materials—dotted wool crepe and heavy crepe de chine. The skirt is very scant and the sleeves are plain and long, but all severity is removed by the scarf collar with its long fringed tassel and the interesting cuffs. This type of gown is very much in demand now.

Home of Half-Million Gulls

Filey Brigg on the coast of Cumberland, England, is one of the greatest haunts of seagulls (commonly called gelleries) on the British coast. Their breeding season ended with the last days of June. These beautiful birds are of the black-headed variety, and the chief game warden estimates that there are over 500,000 birds, which is regarded as a most conservative estimate. The gallery is situated on the Muncaster Castle estate.

Uncomplimentary Wit

Like the Scotch, the English can relish a joke on their native peculiarities. A recent book of British reminiscences includes this little-known story of the old duchesse de Duras and Montrond, the French wit. The duchesse asked the famous wit, "In your opinion, what animal the most closely resembles man?" Montrond reflected for a minute and then replied, gravely, "L'Anglais, duchess."

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

DAWES TO INVADE THIS STATE OCT. 21ST, 22ND, 23RD

By ALBERT F. BAENZIGER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Details of an intensive speaking tour which will carry him into Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware and New York for a whirlwind windup of his campaign were announced for General Charles G. Dawes by the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee here today.

The Republican vice presidential candidate will make the first speech of the tour at Philadelphia at noon October 21. He will speak at Pittsburgh at noon October 22 and that night will give an address at Wheeling, W. Va.

From Wheeling he will go to Lancaster, Pa., for a noon address October 23 and that night he will speak at Wilmington, Delaware. He will give night addresses at Newark, N. J., October 24; Brooklyn, October 25, and Rochester, N. Y., October 27.

Dr. and Mrs. Ward O. Wilson, who have been spending the past ten days in Philadelphia and Atlantic City, will arrive home this evening.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up as I was all run-down, nervous and sick. I ached and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all is that I can even sew again without that awful, nervous feeling I was used to having. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do everything from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."—Mrs. B. F. BRANNON, 404 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas.

TIME TO FIND OUT WHAT ROADS WILL BE BUILT IN 1925 IN THIS COUNTY

Three Important Roads Need Attention In Line With Statement Made By Com'ision'r Wright.

LET US CINCH IT

Shortly after the first of this year State Highway Commissioner Wright when importuned for some improved roads in Clearfield county by representatives of the Clearfield County Good Roads Association, informed the inquirers that he had his program arranged covering the period of the remaining three years of his administration, which program would not allow of any state road work in Clearfield county except the two sections near DuBois and the state aid sections in Decatur, Woodward and Bigler townships, linking Osceola and Houtzdale and Houtzdale and Madera. In the same conversation he also stated that the program also provided for the completion of every foot of the 38 miles of secondary highways in Clearfield county by the end of 1926.

That being so, and if the Highway Commissioner has not changed his plans—and we don't believe he has—it appears to us that now is the time for the Good Roads Association and County Commissioners to get busy and find out from the State Highway Commissioner just what his 1925 program for Clearfield county consists of.

There are three secondary highways in Clearfield county incompleted. Of these the road leading from Allport to the Centre county line is of first importance, serving as it does the heavily populated districts of Morris and Cooper townships, the latter being the pioneer improved road enthusiasts of Clearfield county. Cooper was the first township whose citizens possessed the foresight and business judgment to warrant the expenditure of their own good hard money for improved roads. They accordingly constructed a considerable stretch of macadam road in their township and it was this example that served to educate many Clearfield and Centre county people into becoming good roads boosters.

Surveys were made on this route the past summer and the stretch from the end of the concrete at Allport through Morris and Cooper to the Centre county line should be one of the first pieces of road built this year, if any is to be built in the county.

The route from Osceola to the Cambria county line above Coalport has been pretty well served the past couple of years and further construction in that end can well wait until the road mentioned is given attention.

The other secondary route entitled to consideration at the hands of the

"NOKOMIS", MEANING DAUGHTER OF THE MOON, LIKELY TO BE THE NAME CHOSEN FOR NEW DIRIGIBLE

Lakehurst N. J., Oct. 16. (INS.)—While the crew of the ZR-3 lolled about here today resting after their historic flight from Germany, their officers prepared to go to Washington for a meeting there with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur.

They will return in time for a dinner Saturday to be given for the ships' complement by the Goodyear Zeppelin Company. Save for 15 who are to stay here for three months, they will return soon to Germany.

The German crew of the ZR-3 thus far have been unable to understand all the excitement their arrival created. To them it was just part of the day's work.

The work of deflating the great gas bag proceeded today. Supports were shored to the bag to hold it in place as its gas was permitted to flow out.

The ZR-3 will remain limp until it is filled with helium gas. The hydrogen gas being taken from the 13 cells through valves in the top will not be conserved, but permitted to escape into the air.

Officers of the air station explained that tanking of hydrogen gas under pressure is a dangerous undertaking and, considering the probable impurity of that in the ZR-3 hardly worth attempting in this case.

After the dirigible is re-filled with helium gas and has made a number of test flights it will be commissioned and re-christened. A name has not yet been decided upon, although the one already widely favored is "Nokomis," daughter of the moon, to match the name of the sister ship, "Shenandoah," daughter of the stars.

Have Definite Clue To Identity of Abbotstown Bandit And Murderer

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 16. (INS.)—Finger prints, smeared in oil on the license tag of the automobile abandoned by the slayer of State Policeman Francis L. Haley at Caledonia Park on Tuesday afternoon, have furnished state police with a definite clue as to the identity of the bandit-murderer.

Orders were issued by Major Lynn D Adams, head of the Pennsylvania state police to arrest a New York state resident.

The license tags, rolled up like a carpet, and hurled in the heavy undergrowth in the South Mountains, furnished police with the clue that will prove the solution of the murder, state police said.

The little red car was found abandoned along a lonely mountain pass. The owner had saturated the car with gasoline, and then ignited it. However he had taken off the license plates and after rolling them up, threw them into a ravine some distance away.

Although two garage mechanics working near Fayetteville positively identified the photograph of Gerald Chapman as the man who had stopped at their garage in a similar make of car as that found abandoned, state police today said the slayer was not Chapman.

The man hunted is Philip A. Hartman, a resident of Niagara Falls, N. Y., who is alleged to have stolen the car he drove thru Pennsylvania at Rochester, N. Y.

BANISTER RAIL BREAKS; MAN DIES OF A FRACTURED SKULL

Wheeling, W. Va., Oct. 16.—W. C. Lewis, of Missouri Valley, Iowa, died at a local hospital just before midnight from a fractured skull, sustained when a banister rail in a hotel gave way, precipitating him two stories to the floor.

DAVIS BELITTLES LA FOLLETTE BY ASSERTING BELIEF IN COMMON SENSE

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHISON
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

Aurora, Ill., Oct. 16.—The future of America is safe against the invasion of Bolshevism, John W. Davis declared today in a tribute to the "commonsense and patriotism" of the American people.

The Democratic candidate took occasion, while enroute from Quincy, Ill. to fill a two days speaking engagement in Chicago to denounce attacks upon his progressive rival, Senator Robert M. LaFollette. While disagreeing with the LaFollette theory of government, Davis declared there was no need for the American people to feel alarmed over Republican charges that the Progressive nominee sought to overthrow the constitution.

"I decline to share the views of General Dawes and other Republicans who lie awake nights and ask their fellow citizens to join in their insomnia for fear that some red lurking around the corner, will get them if they close their eyes," Davis said "In my sober judgment there are not 110 millions of misguided men in this country.

"There are some men with very wild ideas but when I go across the country from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic, I see a sturdy intelligent citizenship. I do not tremble for the future of America and I know these currents are but rivulets that are lost in the great ocean of common sense and patriotism that swells across this land.

"The heart of the American people I am profoundly confident, is sound to the core."

Attacks upon LaFollette, Davis charged were mostly 'smoke screens' sent out by the Republicans to confuse voters and to turn attention from the record of the Republican Administration. The issue of the campaign he insisted, was the Re-

"Shenandoah" Takes Off For Camp Lewis, Wash., At 9:16 This Morning

North Island, San Diego, Cal., Oct. 16 (INS.)—Glinting in the sunlight like a huge silver bobbin, the navy dirigible Shenandoah shoved off from her mooring mast here at 9:16 a. m., today for Camp Lewis, Wash., final goal on her maiden trans-continental flight.

The Shenandoah arrived here early last Saturday and had been delayed for repairs of damage sustained on the Fort Worth-San Diego hop and a storm in the northwest.

The officers of the big cruiser had exepected to get under way about two hours earlier but a light blanket of fog retarded the solar heating of the hellium gas.

GIRL, 17, BEHEADED WHEN AUTO TURNED OVER AT GALETON

Wellsboro, Pa., Oct. 15.—Fabra Conable, 17-year-old daughter of Mack Conable, of Galeton, formerly commissioner of Potter county, was reported killed in an auto accident at Walton above Galeton, last night. at Walton, above Galeton, last night. She was said to have been beheaded. Two girls of approximately her own age, Marie Prouty and Frances Stevens, all of Galeton, were in the car with her. Miss Prouty, who was driving, lost control of her car and it ran into a bank and turned over. The other two girls received only minor injuries.

When the lights went out on the automobile of D. Kitchen, Wellsboro lumberman, while on the narrows below Persey Mills Saturday night, the car went over a two-foot embankment. Kitchen was accompanied by his wife and daughter and Mr and Mrs. John Collins of Wellsboro. Collins is in the Jersey Shore hospital with a fractured skull and limbs. It is feared he cannot live. Kitchen sustained a broken collar-bone. The others are seriously bruised and cut

PRAYER SERVICE

Reedsville Chapel prayer service tonight at 7:30. We are growing each week in numbers, last week was the largest number present this fall, let's bring one tonight and double the attendance. Good music and a message from God's own holy word. Come tonight and enjoy this service with us, we want your support and know you will be helped in coming.

HEARD DADDY OVER RADIO

Clearfield radio fans had a full house last evening when friends of J. Mitchell Chase, State Commander of the American Legion, gathered about the many apparatuses about town to hear Commander Chase broadcast a Legion address from station KDKA, Pittsburgh.

Among the interested "listeners in" were Commander Chase's father, John M. Chase, and "Mitch's" three-year-old son Henry. The first and third generation had no trouble in recogonizing the voice of the speaker and little Henry insisted on talking back to "Daddy."

GEORGE BASSETT TO BATTLE MR. BROPHY FOR U. M. W. OFFICE

Complete returns have not yet been received from the primary held on Tuesday by the United Mine Workers of District No. 2, but sufficient is known of the results to state that John Brophy, president of the district, will be opposed for re-election by George Bassett, a well-known member of the ranks from South Fork. James Mark, of DuBois, the present vice president, will be opposed by Jerry Ford, of Patton. Mr. Ford is a former resident of DuBois and is quite well known here. He created somewhat of a stir in a convention in that city by introducing a resolution in favor of light wines and beers. The detailed results of the primary will be made known at a later date. The election comes in December.

SECRETARY WALLACE A SURGICAL PATIENT

Washington, Oct. 16. (INS.)—Secretary of Agriculture Henry C. Wallace spent a comfortable night in the naval hospital, following an operation yesterday for the removal of his appendix and gall bladder, officials said today.

MRS. WILLOW'S FATE TO BE IN HANDS OF JURY THIS EVENING

By VIN D. SWEEENEY
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

Middleburg, Pa., Oct. 16.—One of the strangest murder trials in Pennsylvania in years and the first in Snyder county for nearly half a century will end today. Death in the electric chair, the penitentiary or acquittal for Mrs. Annie Willow will then rest with the jury.

Defense counsel will play its last trump card with the opening of court today when eight letters written by Ralph Shadel, who committed the

McMILLAN DIES

Morgantown, W. Va., Oct. 16. (INS.)—Gordon McMillan, West Virginia University football star, died early today of pneumonia. He was a son of G. W. McMillan, of Minneapolis.

1800 Cattle Were Shot Here

They were very business-like. No bullets were wasted. With 2000 rounds of ammunition, a squad of officials fighting the hoof and mouth plague at Houston, Tex., shot and killed 1800 cattle that had been herded into an immense grave. Rifles "rap-rap-rapped" in a monotone of death until the trench was filled with the lifeless bodies of cattle. Then a steam shovel covered up the trench with earth.

BRITISH ELECTION A TITANTIC BATTLE; RIOTING ALREADY

By DAVID M. CHURCH
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

London, Oct. 15.—Bitterness over the approaching election is increasing daily and manifesting itself in demonstrations at campaign meetings.

Sir Robert Gower, Tory candidate at Hackney, was forced to call off a meeting and was escorted from the hall under guard. Several tory meetings at Battersea have been broken up.

Twenty were injured, three seriously, when a West Belfast mob attacked Harry Midgely, Laborite candidate and hurled stones until police dispersed the rioters. It is feard that Midgley was seriously injured.

The religious issue has been brought into the campaign by Lord Beaverbrook's Daily Express which recently at great length "the Soviet persecution of Catholic priests" and declares that as a result Catholics must support Labor candidates.

The Daily Herald charges that the press is controlled by Lord Rothermere deliberately juggling figures to show that unemployment increased under Labor regime.

Red and anti-Russian posters are plastered over the countryside and in various London displays many new posters.

Chancellor Bowman Will Divulge Reason For Dr. Hall-Quest Resignation

Pittsburgh Pa. Oca. 16 (NS.)—Chancellor John G. Bowman head of the University of Pittsburgh this afternoon refused to amplify the University's attitude toward the resignation of Dr Alfred Lawrence Hall Quest, dean of extra-mural work at the school in the face of a growing demand on the part of students and business men of the city that Dr. Hall-Quest be retained despite the publicity following announcement of his divorce from Mrs. Hall-Quest so she could join her "perfect lover" Major Frederick Hart of Evanston, Ill.

University officials discounted reports that the 8,500 undergraduates at the University are planning "a strike" to force Dr. Hall-Quest's retention.

"Did you discharge Dr. Hall-Quest?" Chancellor Bowman was asked.

The chancellor refused to answer.

Dr. Hall-Quest maintained silence today regarding his resignation stating that all information concerning it must come from University authorities. He suggested that it was the place, of Chancellor Bowman to give any interview pertaining to his leaving the University.

Mrs. Willow's Fate In Jury's Hands This Eve.

murder and who named Mrs. Willow as the instigator, will be offered as evidence. Their authenticity was established by a handwriting expert yesterday.

Written on pieces of scrap paper and the backs of chewing gum wrappers, the letters, according to former Judge A. W. Johnson, chief of defense counsel, reveal Shadel as a morbid, lustful youth and clear Mrs. Willow of any connection with the crime by repeated admissions that "I lied to save myself." If they are admitted as evidence they will be read in private to the jury.

With one or two more witnesses, the defense will then rest its case. Both sides say their rebuttal testimony will be brief and pointed. Ralph Shadel will likely be the star witness for the prosecution because of Mrs. Willow's testimony on the stand yesterday.

For four hours Mrs. Willow, under the friendly questioning of her counsel, told of the brutality of Harvey Willow and flatly denied she had ever plotted the death of her husband with the youth. She put entire blame on Shadel. She denied statements that appeared in her confession. Not once could the state trap her or make her change her story, under a rigid cross examination.

She was not the hysterical witness that many expected. Rarely did she falter for an answer; often she anticipated the end of long questions and answered them before the questioner had finished. Not once did she appear nervous. Often she smiled.

When Judge Miles Potter finishes his charge to the jury this afternoon, the mysterious slaying of Harvey Willow will be a closed incident.

Willow was found dead in a woods on Dec. 11 of last year. Eight months later Ralph Shadel, who had been a hireling on the Willow farm, was arrested. He confessed on August 3, and said Mrs. Willow made him "get rid" of Harvey because of the illicit love affair between himself and her. Shadel was convicted of second degree murder last week and sentenced to the penitentiary for not more than 20, nor less than ten years.

Before today is over Mrs. Willow may know her fate. Her counsel said they would be satisfied with nothing but acquittal.

Foreign Born Citizens Get Mighty Fine Advice From President Coolidge

Washington, Oct. 16.—"Be true to the land of your origin by first being true and loyal to America."

This was the advice given by President Coolidge today to a large delegation of foreign born citizens who called at the White House to pledge him their support in the campaign.

"Those who cast their lot with this country," the President told them, "can be true to the countries of their origin only by first being true and loyal to the country of their adoption."

The President's callers consisted of 40 members of the advisory commission of the foreign language division of the Republican national committee. They presented Mr. Coolidge with a memorial stating that the vast majority of citizens of foreign origin would support the Republican ticket in November. The President replied with a short address from the south portico of the White House.

Careless Letter Writers

It is said that 200,000,000 pieces of mail yearly receive "directory service," which means that postal employees must take time from the regular handling and dispatching of mail in the endeavor to provide correct addresses. This service costs approximately $500 daily in the city of New York alone.

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Eight counties have been closed to the hunting of various kinds of game by the Board of Game Commissioners, and the closed season acted upon last year continued until the general open season of 1925-26, Seth E. Gordon, secretary of the board, announced.

There will be no open season this year for deer in Berks and Susquehanna counties; no open season for bear in Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland counties; no open season for wild turkeys in Fayette, Somerset and Westmoreland counties; no open season for ruffed grouse in Allegheny and Montgomery counties; no open season for ringneck pheasants in Allegheny, Bradford, Cameron, Fayette, Luzerne, Lycoming, Montgomery, Lancaster, Somerset, Sullivan, Susquehanna and Wyoming counties; no open season for quail of any kind in Fayette, Luzerne, Lycoming, Montgomery and Susquehanna counties; no open season for quail in Allegheny county, excepting between November 20 and November 30, inclusive; no open season for woodcock in Warren county excepting from November 1 to November 30, inclusive.

The counties closed to the various kinds of game will, so far as possible, be stocked by the Board of Game Commissioners during the closed term in an effort to increase the various game birds and animals to such an extent that good hunting will be provided when the closed season expires.

Political enemies of Sheriff 'Buckey' Norris of Cameron county, who are attempting to "get something on" the Sheriff because he has been entirely too rude with Cameron county bootleggers are making the taxpayers of little Cameron pay dearly for the attempt to put the doughty little Sheriff out of business. The Emporium Press, in speaking of this war of the bootleggers on the Sheriff says:

"It may interest hard-working citizens of Cameron county to know just what the initial cost of the six weeks period of investigation has been to "get" something on Sheriff Norris, for which, to please a few who would like to see him ousted from office, the county pays the cost.

"At the present time there are in the files of the County Commissioners three bills which sum up to the grand total of $3,219.33 paid to Charles J. Margiotti for attorney fees and expenses. Mr. Margiotti is the attorney for the prosecution in the several cases of Commonwealth vs. J. W. Norris.

"One bill called for a check of $1,500 for the attorney fees of Margiotti in the case of Commonwealth vs. Norris.

"Another is for $1,219.33 for the expenses of Margiotti and for the services and expenses of his two assisting attorneys, Pugliese and Doba. The statement of the services of Pugliese for a period of twenty-seven days is $405.00 and for his expenses $97.37. The statement of the services of Doba for a period of twenty four days is $250.00 and for his expenses $190.05. The statement of the expenses of Margiotti is $77.51.

"Still another bill of $500 was paid to Margiotti as retainer fee for the Commonwealth vs. Papalieo.

"These, however, are only the beginning. The worst are yet to come, after the trial.

"Are these bills an acknowledgement of the incompetency of our District Attorney on a case which he should be handling, or is it an acknowledgement of the weakness of the Commonwealth's cases against Norris that a skilled attorney and his two assistants as well as a corps of State Police must be secured to dig out information from a bunch of bootleggers?

"The county apparently has unlimited funds to pay for the prosecution of a man who has obviously been too zealous in exacting enforcement of the Volstead Act in Cameron county especially in the vicinity of the Emporium Borough, but how much money has been spent in a search for the murderer of a respected county farmer, Charles Ludwig? Did the District Attorney secure a dozen or so skilled detectives here to follow up clues and ferret out the murderer? He did not. Did the District Attorney urge that a reward for the capture of the murderer of Chas. Lurwig be offered by the County Commissioners until fifty one days after the murder was committed? He did not.

"If half the zeal and money that has been used in "getting" the Sheriff had been used to find the murderer of Ludwig, he would have been caught and convicted a dozen times over.

"It makes all the difference in the world who you are trying to 'get'.

"But the county pays the costs just the same."

WILD GEESE ARE FLYING

The first flock of wild geese to leave their northern feeding grounds and wing their flight southward passed over Clearfield last evening shortly after dark.

They were on the lookout for the ZR-3 or some other air flivver because they were honking their fool heads off for a clear track when they shot across the air mail route over our town.

WITNESS DEMONSTRATION

About one hundred Ford dealers from the surrounding towns in this section were in Clearfield yesterday witnessing a demonstration of the Fordson tractor and Weir grader shaping up some of the dirt streets of Clearfield.

Of Venetian Origin

The word "fiasco," meaning a failure, is an Italian word and originally meant a flask. Venetian glassblowers were very keen craftsmen, and if one of them detected the smallest flaw in his handiwork, he turned it into a fiasco or common flask, and so the word came to be applied to any kind of failure.

Good Enough Reason, Too

The reason why a lot of men are bachelors is because they failed to embrace their opportunities.—From Illinois State Journal.

CHARMING ENTERTAINMENT

Mr. and Mrs. J. Boynton Nevling entertained Tuesday evening at the Country Club the choir and the music committee of the Trinity Methodist Church at a turkey dinner. After the dinner, Mr. Nevling acting as toastmaster, there were speeches by A. H. Woodward on "The Old Church Choir"; by H. B. Powell on "The Relation of the Music Committee To the Choir and to the Church," and by Walter Kennard on "What Should Be the Attitude of the Congregation to the Choir."

The guests then amused themselves by having an old-fashioned spelling bee, spelling the words backwards. Impromptu charades formed a part of the pleasure of the evening. Paul Stauffer amused the crowd with several humorous songs. One of the most enjoyable things was the spontaneous singing of old songs throughout the evening. Fifty guests were present.

Chinese Civilization Ancient

When the people in almost all Europe were still wearing skins for clothes the Chinese were a highly cultured people. While Europe was just getting acquainted with the crudest tools, Chinese artisans were using highly developed implements for skilled work, thus showing that Chinese civilization is one of the most ancient.

Girls' Sturdy Coats of Material That Wears

Getting a coat for the school girl is a real problem. First, the coat must be good looking. Then, it must be of a material that will stand the hard wear the girls give their coats at school.

We have coats here for school-girls that are a combination of good looks, good material and good wear—quite a trio.

Another important item is the price. And our prices are very comprehensive. Starting at $5 for a very good coat they go on up to about $20.

A TREE-LOVING FARMER

I. D. O'Donnell of Billings, Mont., has a farm one mile square, with a solid row of trees around his four-mile fence line. A lane running through the middle of the farm is bordered all the way with box-elder. The irrigation canal which flows through the property is lined with trees on both sides. Every bit of space on those 640 acres not absolutely needed for other purposes, and capable of bearing trees, is forested. There are many thousand trees on the place, representing every native Montana species.

Moreover, every farm in the neighborhood is stocked with trees from the O'Donnell farm. Billings streets are full of trees from the same source. And O'Donnell has made a practice, for many years, of giving a tree, on arbor day, to every public school in the city.

This specialization has not prevented the O'Donnell farm from being known, far and wide, as a "model farm" in every respect. But it is known especially for its arboreal beauty and the influence it has had in bringing charm and profit to a wide area of what otherwise might have been mere farm land, unadorned and unattractive.

Along with his tree culture, O'Donnell takes an unusual interest in birds. The birds naturally go with the trees. The birds are good for the trees and the trees are good for the birds. And both are good for the farmers. O'Donnell, according to Sunset Magazine, "believes that if he can interest the farmers in birds, he will be able to induce them to plant trees; and where trees are planted, you have more attractive homes and more contented families; and keeping the family contented is one of the problems of the farmer today."

Here is something which the farmer can do for himself, the value of which cannot be exaggerated. In example alone, this Montana farmer is one of the great benefactors of American agriculture.

CHURCH MEMBERSHIP

The Rev. Charles L. Goodell, secretary of the evangelism committee of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, is not impressed by current arguments about the decadence of the church. He says that critics who sneer about only 40 per cent of the people being affiliated with the Christian church, and only a few of those believing sincerely in the church tenets, do not know what they are talking about.

Figures compiled by the Federal Council last April, he says, show that the Christian churches in this country, Protestant and Catholic, have over 45,000,000 communicants. But this, he insists, does not show the real numerical strength of the church. He argues that the Protestant denominations, in order to marshall all their affiliated population, as the Roman Catholics do, should multiply their reported total of communicants by two and one-half. If this were done, he says, it would show that altogether there are over 100,000,000 people affiliated with our Christian churches.

The secretary is doubtless right in the general view that the Christian church is a greater force in America than many persons realize. Nevertheless there certainly has been a weakening of the church bond and a relaxing of old beliefs. A religious group of 100,000,000 people to whom their religion was a vital force would be a tremendous factor in the national life.

GRAIN CLOSING

Chicago, Oct. 16. (INS)—The grain market slumped off sharply in the closing hours of trading today and finished lower.

Wheat closed 2 at 2⅝ cents lower; corn finished 4 at 4⅝ off and oats closed at 1¾ lower.

Heavy liquidation, inspired by weakness in corn, was responsible for the break in wheat, the burden being too great to be halted even by the influential buying which developed on the slump. There was bullish news from Argentine which placed the crop estimate there at 75 per cent of that of last year.

The decline in corn came rather unexpectedly and was attributed to profit taking by big holders. The slump started immediately after the opening and the market continued to drop throughout the session with little support except from shorts.

The break in corn was responsible for the easing off of oats prices near the close, when buying became greatly restricted. Provisions met with good buying and closed strong.

Progress Editorials for Women

"LET THEM SAY"

By FLORENCE DAVIES

"Delia said, 'If you face the house this way won't people think it's funny?' And the architect said, 'Mrs. Reeves, the only way to face it so that some people won't think it's funny would be to put it on a pivot.'"

There had been a good deal of trouble with the whole life of Delia Reeves. She had literally tried to face her life so that people wouldn't talk. But they had talked and she had listened, and had made a sorry wreck of things for herself. For the trouble with listening to talk is that you must always dance to another's tune.

Delia Reeves is the central figure in a new novel by Emanie N. Sachs, which is fittingly named "Talk." For it was talk, cruel, critical, gossiping, idle talk that took the life of Delia Morehouse, later Delia Reeves, and beat and twisted it into the unlovely thing it finally became.

The story is that of a really gifted young woman who was left an orphan without any means of support save that of a small book shop. For this she had a real gift. But at housework she was a miserable failure. When she chose to marry the poor man she loved, the cruel talk of a conservative southern town kept her from going with the thing she could do well, and put her in a house which she kept badly, thus making her a miserable failure.

More than once after that she made the wrong decision because she was afraid to talk, afraid of what people would say. But they always talked just the same, just as they always will.

If in her own heart she had known that the things she wanted to do were wrong, how justly might she have dreaded "What people said." But in that case, she would have needed no accusation from others. Her own sense of right would have been prod enough. But even knowing she was right she lacked courage. She couldn't stand what they would say.

What a slave to that worst and most cruel of tyrants was poor Delia. Talk, that most delightful of all diversions, that most enlightening and rewarding of all pastimes, can be the most tyrannical, the most heartless, the most cruel.

Alas for Delia, she should have taken a page out of the book of the old Earl Marshall of Aberdeen, upon whose estate the great Scotch University was founded.

His enemies quarreled with him over some land, but he refused to bicker with them. Instead, he took as the motto of his house, "They say. What they say? Let them say."

If you know you are right, nail that motto to your flag mast.

"They say—" —we can not stop them, for the world is full of idle chatter, much of it is harmless, some of it cruel. Poor Delia trimmed her sails to the winds of talk and lost her way.

"What they say?" If, like Gallahad your heart is pure—"Let them say."

PENNSY-GRAMS

Philadelphia.—A car selling for $4,000 when new was auctioned off for $13.20 yesterday at the sale of motor vehicles seized by prohibition agents conducted here by United States Marshal Mathues. The purchasers bought blindly, bidding according to numbers drawn from a hat. The average price during the sale was $27.06.

Philadelphia.—With the selection of a jury copleted at a special session last night, the trial of Violet Dickerson 19-year-old girl mother, for complicity in the murder of Louis Thursch during a holdup here, will proceed today. It is expected the same witnesses will be called as those who testified against Charles Oeffinger, her "pal" during the holdup, who is now under sentence of death for the crime.

Media.—A new trial has been asked for Magistrate D. Martin Yerkes, known as the "fining squire," who was found guilty yesterday of extortion, malfeasance, misfeasance and misdemeanor in office. Under the law he is liable to removal from office and may get a sentence of three years.

Philadelphia, Oct. 15 (INS.)— Following close behind his week when he attempted to kill his young wife from whom he was separated, Charles Morrell, 22, forced his way into the room where she was sleeping early this morning and fired three bullets into her body while she pleaded with him to spare her life.

Morrell then fled to his own home where he fired a bullet into his temple just as two policemen arrived to arrest him. Both were taken to St. Agnes hospital. Though suffering from wounds in her shoulder, arm and wrist, Mrs. Morrell is expected to recover. Her husband will probably die.

Morrell attempted to shoot his wife Sunday morning in front of the bakery where she is employed but Mrs. Morrell knocked the pistol from his hand and he fled. Later he returned and was confronted by a policeman who arrested him. He was held under $300 bail to keep the peace.

Convinced he would make another attempt Mrs. Morrell had taken a room over the bakery for safety. Morrell pursued her there.

October Meeting D. A. R. A Pleasant Event At The Home of Mrs. Frank Reed

The October meeting of the Susquehanna Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution was held on Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank E. Reed on Old Town Road. The regular program was delightfully varied by a loan exhibition of revolutionary relics and genuine antiques, the cherished property of members of the chapter. Mrs. Reuben [illegible] had charge of this feature [illegible] the roll was called each of the [illegible] members in attendance responded with name of her honored ancestor and a short resume of the service he rendered during the most momentous period of American history. A brief explanation of each particular article on exhibit was also given and many interesting and entertaining facts and incidents of early days were recounted.

Mrs. Edmund Gros, of Paris, a life member of the chapter, and Mrs. H. P. Sadtler of Baltimore, a guest of the chapter regent, Mrs. James P. O'Laughlin, were among those present at the meeting.

Tea and sandwiches served by the hostesses of the occasion brought to a close a most enjoyable afternoon.

ENTERTAIN THEIR WIVES

The members of the Crooked Run Hunting Club entertained their wives last evening at a sumptuous dinner at the club house located in the mounts twelve miles north of Clearfield. There were seventy-seven people present and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

nie Mack of the Athletics (American can League) for $100,600.

The deal was consummated without competitive bidding. Connie Mack opened negotiations with Jack Dunn, owner and manager of the Orioles, while the Athletic's manager was attending the little worlds series games here. Connie saw Groves pitch his last game against St. Paul and was greatly impressed by the left hander's speed and control.

Groves is but twenty-three years old. During the past season he won thirty-three of his games and lost but six. Five of his winning games were twirled against teams in the major leagues.

Lefty was found two years ago in the obscure Chambersbur team of the Blue Ridge League by Jack Dunn, Jr. Since then he was rapidly forged to the front as one of the greatest portside hurlers in the game.

Ten Arrests In Chicago End Conspiracy Which Had Branches In Big Middle West Cities.

BOSS FLYER CA'GHT

By CARL W. HARRIS
I. N. E. Staff Corespondent

Chicago, Oct. 16.—A nation-wide liquor scandal and arrests of millionaire bootleggers in all parts of the country was predicted here today as Federal prohibition agents announced the collapse of a gigantic airplane rum smuggling ring through ten sensational arrests here.

The rum syndicate, federal officers claim, carried on systematic airplane traffic in liquor and fancy wines between the United States and Cuba, and maintained branches in many cities of the country where the contraband goods was cut, rebottled, relabeled and peddled out in thousand gallon lots to retail distributors. Its deals, the officers say, ran into millions and it was responsible for the making of an entire army of new capitalists.

Evidence necessary to make the first ten arrests, the officers revealed had been gathered for nearly a year, two big warehouse raids here furnished much of the information which planes at the Chicago aero club and has four expensive automobiles as part of his personal equipment.

Officials say it was he who directed the syndicate's operations and arranged for the transportation by rail of huge shipments of liquor from Florida to all parts of the country.

Others arrested include Edward F O'Brien, alleged partner of Pinkussohn and said by Federal officers to be the holder of the Chicago "concession"; Joseph Wurtzburg, owner of a chain of drug stores here which are said to have acted as distribution centers for the syndicate; Louis Bittner, manager of a large storage and warehouse company where it is said carloads of real whiskey and real champagne which as yet had not been "cut" were found; Robert Malquist, foreman of warehouse and lesser lights who served as the "hired hands" of the syndicate, never coming into contact with its real heads.

William Rowles, the seven months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Rowles of Grampian, who was operated on at the Clearfield hospital several days ago for a bad case of telescoped bowels, is improving finely at this time, according to Grandpa John P. Rowels, who, with Grandma Rowles, was down to see the little patient yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs A. C. Pierce and family have returned from a week's trip in the eastern part of the state.

the alleged abduction of Violet Marcus 14-year-old daughter of a Pittsburgh restaurant owner.

According to testimony at the hearing, the girl was taken away from her home on Oct. 6, and brought to Sharon. Several days later she was forced into a marriage with Grace at Mercer, the girl declared with tears streaming down her cheeks as she related the degradation she had undergone. The girls mother collapsed during the recital of her daughter's story.

Mrs. Brown and Grace were committed to jail in default of $2,000 bail.

Sport Notables Who Double in Brass

Is the day of the specialist passing in sports? The season's developments would seem to answer yes. Georeg Von Elm who went to the finals in the amateur golf championship is an amateur boxer of rare ability. Y. K. Browne, a finalist in the women's golf championship, is one of the country's leading tennis stars. Charles Brookins, best hurdler in America, is now starring for Iowa on the football gridiron. And don't forget Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington champions, is one of the best basketball players in the professional ranks.

MESSAGE TO LEGION

AT THE sixth annual national convention of the American Legion held recently in St. Paul, the following message from President Coolidge was read in the convention hall in lieu of the President's attendance at the meeting:

"The thought of the world turns increasingly toward peace, its preservation and perpetuation. I am glad to be able to say to the Legion that this thought is more and more finding leadership and direction. We are justified, as never before, in the hope for great accomplishments, through the cooperation of the nations, in the ways of peace. You of the Legion, better than any others, know what war means. So I am happy to extend to you my confidence that highly important progress is making along the road which leads to the elimination of war from this world. You have done me honor in attributing to me ability to add to the inspiration which Legion members must always draw from contemplating their great part in the history of their country and the world. Theirs has been both in war and in peace, a record of unselfish readiness to serve."

WOMEN MEMBERS ARE LIVE LEGIONNAIRES

A bursting shell in the Chateau-Thierry area overturned an ambulance but the woman who was driving it was pulled out of the wreckage only slightly injured. That accounts for the fact that Mrs. J. W. Atkins is still alive—so much so that she is counted one of the livest Legionnaires of which the Lowe-McFarlane post of the Legion, Shreveport, La., boasts. The energy and spirit that enabled Mrs. Atkins to enroll many members in the Lowe-McFarlane post recently is the same she displayed in the great war.

She served six months as an ambulance driver at the French front with Miss Anne Morgan's famous unit, the American Committee for Devastated France, which did volunteer service with the Third French army. Mrs. Atkins, if she so minded, could relate many vivid and thrilling stories of her experiences while driving her ambulance and caring for the wounded. She was at the battle of Chateau-Thierry where her ambulance was overturned by a shell. "We were there to help and not to be helped and performed service just as a man," Mrs. Atkins says. She did all the repair work on her ambulance that did not require the service of a skilled mechanic. On one occasion she repaired 17 punctures in one day on her machine. Nor is Mrs. Atkins the only woman member of which Lowe-McFarlane post boasts.

Many years ago a sparkling little girl playing outside the walls of St. James palace in London caught the eye of a prince who called her to him and gave her a string of beads, saying: "You're a bright little girl; here take these beads to go with your brightness."

The prince later became King Edward of the British empire and the little girl grew into refulgent womanhood, retaining and emanating the same cheerful spirit, as a United States army nurse, which had once pleased the prince of Wales, and which, incidentally, is now pleasing the members of Lowe-McFarlane post of which she is a most active member and member-getter.

Mrs. Butler was born near St. James palace in London, but following her marriage came to this country. During the war Mrs. Butler "joined up" as a nurse and made existence brighter for the boys at Camp McArthur base hospital, Waco, Tex. Following her discharge she went to Shreveport, where she is successfully operating a small poultry farm known as "Blue Bird Cottage," a homey little bungalow place surrounded by flowers and shrubbery. Although Mrs. Butler lives 14 miles from Shreveport, "the little lady of Blue Bird Cottage" very rarely misses a Legion meeting and is always smiling when she gets there.

Legion Men Have Raft, but No Water in Lake

Legionnaires of Woodstown, N. J., know how disappointed Noah would have been if, after building him an ark, the promised deluge had not been forthcoming to float the said ark. Recently they builded them a raft of great dimensions to be floated upon the waters of the Woodstown and vicinity "Memorial Lake," only to have their raft left high and dry on the shores of a waterless lake. As a result of litigation with one of the abutting property owners the lake basin is an excellent replica of the Sahara desert, and to decide whether or not there shall be water in the lake, the good citizens of Woodstown will go to the polls soon. The Legionnaires have adopted as their campaign slogan, "Fill the lake to float our raft."

New Department Commander

Raymond G. Littlefield of James Stanton post, Central Falls, Rhode Island, was elected department commander of the Legion for Rhode Island at the annual convention of the Legion at East Greenwich recently.

It Happens Every Day

Keith's ambition was to hold down a good job instead of being held down by a poor one. But every time he started talking about changing to something better, his friends all said that this was no time to try a stunt like that—because it couldn't be done.

He was a born salesman and knew it, but his present duties consisted of running an adding machine and taking the other steps necessary to keep accounts straight.

He had gone to see a number of the employers in the city and told them about his plans to become the best salesman they ever saw. While admitting this was a worthy ambition, they explained that when it came to taking on a new man right now, it simply couldn't be done.

But instead of letting the "Can'ts" have it—Keith stopped in at the Progress office after work one day and let an ad taker help write a truthful, interesting ad about himself and what he wanted to do—

And three days later he had a letter asking him to call at the local offices of a national concern, for an interview about taking a position as junior salesman—and the next day he landed the job! Yet—

Everybody Said It Couldn't Be Done!

Time To Find Out What Roads Will Be Built

state and county road building authorities this year is the road up the river from Curwensville through Lumber City to the Cambria county line above Westover, which will serve to complete the county-seat-to-county seat routes to both Ebensburg and Indiana. This is an important thoroughfare and also should have consideration this year.

Some agitation has arisen over the possible changing of this route by crossing from Bell's Landing to Grampian instead of going via Lumber City. The advocates of this change in the route assert it would shorten the distance several miles and would be advantageous from that standpoint, with its cheapening of the cost of construction. Both are good points, we admit, but the route via Lumber City is the route provided for in the original Sproul plan. It has been so accepted for the past 14 years and can only be changed by action of the state legislature, which is hardly a possibility.

The state entered into a contract with the people along the original route to build the improved highway by that route in 1911, both sides kept that contract during the dark days following passage of the Sproul act, when the improved roads it provided for—sometime—were more in the nature of a forward-looking vision, than a "brass tacks" possibility in 1925. The people living in the area affected have kept the faith all these years and it is now up to the state and county highway building agencies to do likewise and we believe they will do so.

A road from Bell's Landing across to Grampian would be a good thing and we believe will come some day, but the road from Curwensville thru Lumber City, Bell's Landing, Mahaffey, to Westover should be built during 1925 and 1926 as promised by Highway Commissioner Wright, and we firmly believe that road will be built over that route as per the original Sproul plan.

But let us get busy and find out what is coming to Clearfield county in 1925 and when and where we may expect it.

The Cozy Atmosphere Makes Meals Pleasant

There's such a homelike atmosphere to our dining rooms — more like home than a restaurant. And it's this that makes your meals and lunches here a far pleasanter event in the day's routine. It's a very pleasant break.

Harlequin Tea Room

Miss June Groft left Sunday for Vineland, N. J., where she will visit her brother, Walter Groft.

Chief of Police Harry Bauman, of Hollidaysburg, who is suffering from stomach trouble and neuritis is a patient at the Clearfield Hospital. The "big chief" has lost 67 pounds during the past few months.

Mrs. Minnie Brown and Miss Mabel Livingston have returned from Harrisburg where they spent several days with Mr. and Mrs. Paul Aller. "Sonny" Aller returned with them and will spend some time here while his parents are in Chicago on a visit.

Believe Tobacco Necessity

Spanish beggars do not think it necessary to conceal their cigar when asking for alms. Smoking is considered as necessary as breathing to every human being out of the cradle.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

Have you a bad taste, coated tongue, poor appetite, a lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, trouble with undigested foods? Take Olive Tablets the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief. Eat what you like. 15c and 30c.

Made With Essential Oils

Politicians -- Auctioneers Clergymen--Lecturers Singers

Anyone who speaks or sings in public whose voice is apt to grow husky or weak from the strain, will find that one Oxidaze tablet slowly dissolved in the mouth before speaking or singing, will make a world of difference. The voice stays strong and clear and natural even during an unusual strain.

Thousands of people have testified to the remarkable value of these pure essential oil tablets, which bring such quick relief in cases of Hoarseness, Loss of Voice, Soreness, or Tickling in Throat, Bronchitis, Bronchial Irritation, Bronchial Asthma, Coughs, Colds, and as a preventive against Grippe, Influenza and Pneumonia.

One small inexpensive package of "Oxidaze" tablets will quickly prove the value of pure essential oil in cases of this kind; if they are always kept in the house for use in case of emergency, they may save you many days of serious illness or discomfort. Any good druggist, including Blose Drug Co., can supply you.

American Women Aware of Big Benefit Protective Tariff Has Proved to Home

THEY KNOW THAT WAGE EARNERS CANNOT FIND WORK TO KEEP THEM BUSY IF COMPETITION WITH CHEAP FOREIGN GOODS IS ALLOWED

This is the third of a series of five articles by Mrs. Alvin T. Hert, vice-chairman of the Republican National Committee, and chairman of the Women's Division of that committee. Mrs. Hert discusses what she considers vital campaign issues from the woman's standpoint.

BY MRS. ALVIN T. HERT

The average American family is happy and prosperous today. The average American boy and girl have enough food and clothing to make them comfortable. For this we are all grateful. Every man and every woman who wants a job should have one.

There are fundamental laws of supply and demand. There are basic economic principles which must be satisfied before a job can be provided for the man who can fill it. The women of this country have demonstrated their ability to get at the real facts underlying any business problem. They are not satisfied with the half-truths which are frequently presented to them in tariff arguments.

It has been said frequently that women are the purchasing agents for the 25,000,000 families in the United States. This is true, but before they can purchase for these families, they must have money in their pockets.

Women refuse to accept the statement that what the United States needs is free trade in order that we may buy cheaply the products of other countries.

How can we buy unless the wage earner of the family has a job and is earning money?

There are two sides to this tariff problem, the buying and the selling. Under the Democratic one-sided theory of low tariff on imported goods, this country has suffered the worst pangs of unemployment.

With this system at work, American women have known what it meant to be unable to buy bread for their children. At the same time, American men have known what it was to tramp the streets looking for work.

As an interesting and significant contrast, we should bear in mind the fact that under a Republican protective tariff law the prosperity of this country has been such that women have been able to spend $40,000,000,000 per annum, or nearly 70 per cent of the national income, upon retail purchases.

Four years ago when the Republican party came into power in this country there were 5,000,000 men out of employment.

This condition of affairs is a decided contrast to the situation in August, 1924. Industry has known a great revival and agriculture is beginning to reap the benefits of restored prosperity. Wages have increased and complaint of unemployment is at an end.

President Coolidge in accepting the Republican nomination for President on August 14 last, said:

"As a source of revenue the tariff surpasses all expectations in producing an annual return of the unprecedented sum of about $500,000,000. A fiscal policy which places a large and much needed revenue in the public treasury while stimulating business to a condition of abounding prosperity defends itself against any criticism. Its merits are demonstrated by its results. We have protected our own inhabitants from the economic disaster of an invasion of too many foreign people or too much foreign merchandise."

The average American working man is accustomed to high wages and his family is accustomed to a higher scale of living than is possible for the family of any other working man in the world. He knows that it is of no avail to have goods on a department store shelf marked at a slightly lower cost if he is unable to earn the money to buy them.

The Republican party's record shows that it has continually advocated a protective tariff.

The Democrats charge that a protective tariff keeps out importations and destroys competition. It must be clear that even if a Republican protective tariff law did keep out importations, the inevitable effect would be to create new American enterprises of like character and thus increase domestic competition in even greater proportion than foreign competition is dimished.

A recent writer stated that a tariff law "which affords every advantage to foreign sellers in the American market to the detriment of American labor and industry can hardly be held to benefit this country. Here in America we know that we must produce and earn before we can spend and consume."

A tariff law which diverts American money from the payment of American wages to the payment of foreign wages cannot possibly benefit the American working man.

The women voters of this country have heard President Coolidge recount the large revenue which has come to this country with the present protective tariff in vogue. They know that unemployment has been ended. They know that there is a job for every man in this country. Women know that they have more money in the family pocketbook to purchase comforts for their families when manufacturers are encouraged to manufacture goods which they can sell at a profit and thus give employment to men and women who want to work.

This question of the tariff is far reaching and every thoughtful woman must understand that it is tied up in all directions with the income which the head of the family is able to earn. Every woman knows that it is vitally important that her husband should have an adequate income. Altogether the tariff demands of women this year a thoughtful answer when they go to the polls in November to cast a vote for the best interests of their families and the communities in which they live.

THOMAS W. MILLER HONORED BY FIDAC

Thomas W. Miller, alien property custodian, was elected president of the Fidac (Federation Inter-Allies des Anciens Combattants) at the London congress of that international body of veterans of the World war recently. Mr. Miller has announced that he will resign as alien property custodian, a position which he has held for a number of years.

With the honor to Mr. Miller there came another honor to America and to the American Legion at the congress. This was in the election of Roy Hoffman of Oklahoma as vice president of the organization.

In the Fidac all American veterans of the great conflict are represented by the American Legion. Fidac is composed of 10,000,000 veterans of the principal allied and associated countries. Its annual congress was held at New Orleans in 1922 at the time of the American Legion convention there.

The presidency of Fidac has from its organization until now rested with the French veterans. Charles Bertrand, a member of the French chamber of deputies, has held the position.

Mr. Miller was a colonel in the Seventy-ninth division in the World war. He was one of the members of the Paris caucus at which the first active steps looking towards the formation of the American Legion were taken.

The new president, it is understood, will devote his entire time to the activities of the Fidac. One of the questions, it is said, which confronts him is that of giving more concrete expression to the aspirations of the millions of veterans in Fidac.

Thought U. S. Flag Was Solid Crimson Block

Congressman A. Piatt Andrew, wearing a Legion button, recently addressed the sixth annual convention of the American Legion at Pittsfield, Mass., and in the course of his remarks told the following yarn:

"When the Harvard medical unit was in a little village in France in the early days of the war, the natives developed the idea that the United States flag was a solid block of crimson. In consequence whenever it became known that the Yanks were about to leave in sight, red blankets were draped from windows, red mufflers were unwound from children's necks and red flags were flown wherever possible. The peasant women unfurled their red petticoats, came to the doors of their cots and danced on the steps while they waved these underthings and joyously screamed, 'To 'ell wiz Yale, to 'ell wiz Yale,' as the lads marched by. This caused Ralph Robart of Cambridge, cheer leader, to call for three and a tiger for the Gloucester buddy."

Post in Massachusetts Builds Own Clubhouse

Methuen post of the American Legion at Lawrence, Mass., recently closed a deal whereby their post exchequer was enriched to the extent of several thousand dollars. Nor have they embraced the great profession born of the Eighteenth amendment. They merely contracted with themselves to build by themselves their clubhouse for themselves, and hence they now have a clubhouse which big-hearted contractors would have been glad to put up for them at some five thousand dollars more than it cost them by doing their own labor.

Invests in Lung Motor

The Portsmouth (Va.) post of the Legion recently promoted a fund to purchase a lung motor to be used in reviving persons taken out of water, gas victims and others whose lives might be saved by forced inhalations of oxygen.

Expectations Vary

LESSON NO. 5

LIGHTING THE LIVING ROOM

The living room is usually not only the largest room in the house, but it is also the room that is most used. In most homes it serves as the sitting room, the parlor, the library and the music room.

Because we do so many different things in this room, we need lighting that can be changed and varied to suit our purpose. For example, if we wish to entertain our friends by dancing or playing cards, we should be able to flood the whole room with plenty of soft, cheerful light; if we wish to read or sew, we should be able to have the light come over our shoulder from behind a favorite chair; if we wish to play the piano and sing, we should have the music well lighted. At all times the lighting effect should be pleasant and attractive.

To get these effects, we need three different kinds of lighting equipment in the room. First we have a fixture hung from the ceiling with which we can flood the room with light; then we have table lamps and floor lamps which are portable and can be moved about as furniture is rearranged, to give a good reading light. Finally, we may have bracket fixtures on the walls, which give us charming spots of colored light—never too bright and only used to add attractive decoration to our other lighting.

"Bulbs" are known by the amount of electricity it takes to light them. The unit by which they are classified is the "Watt," and bills for electric lighting current are rendered in terms of a "kilowatt-hour," which is one thousand watts for one hour, or one hundred watts for ten hours.

The total watts needed in any room depends upon the size of the room, the kind of fixtures used, the color of the decorations and the lighting effect wanted. In most rooms good lighting may require as little as one or as much as five watts of bulbs for each square foot of floor area in the room.

Here are the things to think about when we want to be sure we have good lighting in the living room. 1. Do we have plenty of light where we need it? 2. Are all the bulbs well shaded so that we do not have any glare? 3. Does the lighting equipment look well in the room, and does it fit both lighted and unlighted with the furniture and woodwork?

THE CEILING FIXTURE

Unless the living room is very large only one fixture is needed on the ceiling. However, if the room is long and narrow—perhaps twice as long as it is wide, two ceiling fixtures should be used.

There are several kinds of fixtures which will provide good lighting in the living room. Some of these are shown in the Home Lighting Primer on page 22. Some are shown in the next picture.

The bulbs in these fixtures vary in number, but the total watts necessary for good lighting is from 100 to 250 watts.

The shades may be of glass, silk or parchment. They should completely hide the bulb and should be dense enough so that the whole surface of the shade is evenly lighted. A bright spot in the center of the shade means that the shade is not dense enough, and that some glare is present.

The use of all frosted bulbs will often do away with shadows of chains which would otherwise be cast on the ceiling.

PORTABLE LAMPS

Portable lamps include floor lamps, table lamps and small pedestal lamps, candlesticks, torcheres, etc., for mantel and bookcase. The best portable lamps have shades which are deep enough to hide the bulbs and dense enough to prevent glare. Some are built to send more light up toward the ceiling as well as down toward the table or floor. These use large bulbs and are designed to provide general lighting by reflection from the ceiling as well as local lighting. Portable lamps from which more is required than merely decoration will need bulbs which have a total of 50 to 100-watts or more; in the interests of economy, those which are merely a decoration do not need more than a 25-watt bulb. Duplex outlets in the baseboard permit the greatest convenience and use of portable lamps for lighting.

WALL BRACKETS

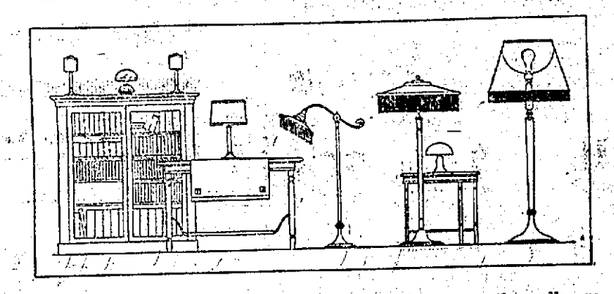
Sometimes people try to provide general lighting for the entire room with wall brackets. Except under unusual circumstances, this leads to one result—the use of larger bulbs whose brightness is annoying.



Bracket fixtures on the walls are merely decorative spots of colored light. Since they are almost always directly in front of the eyes of someone in the room, a light bright enough to furnish useful light soon becomes annoying and causes eyestrain.

It is most important that these be well shaded, so that glare does not prevent their effectiveness as a beautiful decoration. The use of bulbs larger than the 15 or 25-watt size cannot be recommended.

DAVIS BELITTLES LA FOLLETTE

publican record in public office.

Davis arrived here early today from Quincy to address a local audience before leaving for Chicago, where he was due this afternoon.

Just before leaving Quincy, Davis issued a statement submitting what he contended was proof of his charges that "the Secretary of the Republican National committee had conspired with the department of Justice to obtain the indictment of Senator Burton K. Wheeler." This indictment, Davis had charged was a "black and dastardly crime" committed to halt investigation of the department" through misuse of the process of law."

Davis submitted extracts of the testimony given before theBrookhart Senatorial committee by William J. Burns, former head of the bureau of investigation in the Department and by BlairCoan who testified he was an agent employed by the Republican National Committee.

In his testimony quoted by Davis, Burns said he had discussed the indictment of Wheeler with former Attorney General Harry M. Daugherty in the presence of Coan prior to the time it was returned.

Davis said that this testimony proved his charges of corruption in the Republican Administration of the Department of Justice.

CONGRATULATIONS

"THE American Legion is the peculiar guardian of the great traditions of the World war. Its posts, scattered throughout the country, teach, by their presence, the lessons which the next generation should learn. Your annual conventions challenge the thought of the country to the significance of the events out of which your organization grew. You are therefore appointed to be the teachers and leaders of patriotic activity and your sacrifices in France and your service at home are the seeds out of which progress is to grow in our country. I close this word of greeting and remembrance with my congratulations upon what you have done and the great opportunity for further service which lies at your feet."

Such, in part, was the message sent by Newton D. Baker, to the sixth national convention of the American Legion held in St. Paul recently.

MAY AID VETERANS IN INSTITUTIONS

In Oklahoma there is an organization sponsored by the American Legion, known as the soldiers' relief commission of Oklahoma, which has recently done a great service to those veterans of the World war who are confined to Oklahoma penal institutions and who, the commission finds, are for the most part either mentally deficient or suffering from physical disability. The Legion wants these facts taken into consideration in the care and treatment of these unfortunate evidences of a world at war. They base their appeal for reform and a new consideration of the incarcerated veteran upon the following facts disclosed by their survey of Oklahoma prisons:

Of the 358 former service men now confined in Oklahoma institutions, approximately 15 per cent of the whites and 10 per cent of the colored inmates were found to be either mentally deficient or otherwise psycopathic. One hundred and fifty inmates, former service men, were found to be suffering from physical disabilities. Twenty-one former soldiers in Oklahoma prisons are classed as illiterates; 20 have had no schooling whatever, while 72 mexican barely read and write. Only nine whites and two colored have completed high schools, a great majority having less than a common school education. Only 41 of the 358 confined are serving second sentences; 97 are married and 80 have children.

Apparently a large number of ex-service men were attracted to Oklahoma, following the war, in search of the liquid gold called oil. And then came the "dry holes" and the business depression, resulting in many of these men, abnormal in many instances and lacking the restraints of home in other instances, being led into trouble.

In presenting their report the commission made the following recommendations:

"The confinement in a penal institution of an honorably discharged soldier, sailor or marine does not forfeit a claim on his part against the federal government, arising from his military service. Such men, however, are usually ignorant of their rights and very largely reluctant or helpless to assert them. The work done in connection with this survey is done with a view towards the establishment of these rights. We further recommend that a full-time neuro-psychiatrist expert be assigned to the prisons, that the prisoners may be closely observed and reclassified where necessary; construction of a psychopathic ward inside the prison walls, in which should be confined the mental defectives; better wards for tuberculars; separation of first offenders from hardened criminals and vocational training classes along lines of preferential selection by the inmate."

Georgia Legion Ready to Aid Atlanta Police

Asa W. Candler, national executive committeeman of the American Legion from Georgia, in a speech at Atlanta, pledged the moral support of the Argonne post of the American Legion to the Atlanta police department and offered active assistance if ever it should be needed. Mr. Candler declared: "The police force of Atlanta has been constantly hampered by interference of petty politicians. We are proud of our police force and are behind you in your efforts to enforce law and order. The Argonne post has more than 1,200 members, trained, organized and capable of meeting any emergency that may arise."

Curiosity

"And now," said the minister, concluding a talk before the Sunday school, "are there any questions you wish to ask?"

"Yes, sir," piped an urchin who had watched him intently. "Do you wear a shirt under that thing?"—American Legion Weekly.

Largest Post in Chicago

The Advertising Men's post of the Legion in Chicago, with a membership of 700, is the largest post in Chicago and the second largest post in the state. Recently Don Jose Mojica, tenor of the Chicago Civic Opera company, sang before a meeting of the post.

Aspiration

When you are aspiring to the highest place it is honorable to reach the second or even the third rank.

GOOD WOMAN IS CALLED

Mrs. Martha H. Jones, widow of the late F. H. Jones, and a former long time resident of Kylertown, died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Harry M. Denning, at Philipsburg, on Wednesday morning last, of a complication of diseases and following an extended illness.

The deceased was a daughter of James and Hannah Devinney Aston, and was born in Huntingdon, Pa., in 1840, being therefore 84 years of age. She was united in marriage with F. H. Jones on June 20, 1866. He passed away Jan. 17, 1921. To this union five children were born, one of whom is deceased. Those surviving are Harry L., of Philadelphia; Grace, wife of Harry M. Denning, of Philipsburg, and W. Walter and Harvey C., both of Kylertown. She also leaves 15 grandchildren, two great grandchildren and one sister, Mrs. Elizabeth Brown, of Boalsburg, Pa.

Mrs. Jones had been an invalid for seven years. Her patience in suffering, christian fortitude, and her bright smile for everyone who was associated with her, will always be remembered. She professed conversion and united with the Methodist Chuch in early childhood, and all thru her long years exemplified a beautiful, consistent christian life.To what depth and extent her life touched and affected other lives for good, hundreds can testify. Hers was a most gentle, winsome and persuasive personality and at the same time remarkably strong. Her passing will be mourned by a large circle of friends.

Funeral services will be held in the M. E. church at Kylertown on Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be made in the family plot in the Kylertown cemetery.

Lemon Tree Peculiar

One of the chief peculiarities of the lemon tree is that it carries both flower and fruit in all stages of development most of the year. The lemons are picked green and ripened in the dark. If picked when ripe they will not keep for any length of time.

Eagles Have Long Life

The biological survey says that some species of eagles have been known to live a hundred years. From records kept by the zoological societies of London it is shown that specimens in captivity lived to be forty-two, forty-six and fifty-five years of age.

This New Treatment Never Fails to End Piles

Man sufferers from Piles or Hemorrhoids have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was nothing in the world to help them.

To these people we say, "Go to your druggist and get an original box of MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES." One of these inserted into the rectum according to direction will be found to give immediate relief. They reach the source of the trouble and by their soothing, healing, antiseptic action first allay the pain and soreness and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles cause them to heal up and disappear forever.

It's simply wonderful how speedily they act. Blessed relief often comes in two days. Even in cases that have steadily resisted all known treatments, marvelous results have been obtained.

The Stewart Drug Co. dispense MOAVA SUPPOSITORIES in the original box or can get it for you on short notice.

JOINT-EASE For Rheumatic or Otherwise

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets In--Joint Agony Gets Out"

It was a high class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen, tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen, twingy, inflamed, stiff, pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for ailments of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale at Stewart Drug Co. and druggists everywhere for 60c a tube.

Always remember, when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick.

Curwensville's Own Column

Miss Ruth Ellen Fleming gave a masquerade party to about twenty of her schoolmates last Friday evening. A very enjoyable time was had by all present. Refreshments and decorations were suitable for the occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. George R. Fleming, Bloomington avenue, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Bloom, New Bethlehem, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fleming, above Naulton.

Street Commissioner Dale has fixed the Filbert street creek bridge in a manner that will compel one way traffic whether drivers of vehicles like it or not. For months a large sign warning motorists that this structure was a one way driveway has been in place, but so little attention was paid to it that Council decided to make it impossibel for two machines to pass over at the same time.

Quite a number of the members of the Odd Fellow lodge attended the funeral of their deceased brother, Lewis Weber, from his home yesterday afternoon. A delegation of his friends and lifelong acquaintances was also present both at the home and at the cemetery.

Ed Gallagher is having a handsome stone wall porch erected at his new home on Thompson street. The work is of fine design and shows up very prettily from the street.

The large, new water dam now in course of erection out in the Bailey settlement by the Raftsman Water Company, will be completed within the next month. This dam together with the big reservoir above town will hold sufficient water that Curwensville patrons need never fear a shortage of water.

Mrs. Russell Underwood, of Latrobe, is visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Frank P. Bloom, on Centre State street. She is the eldest daughter of Mrs. Bloom.

The members of Grace Lutheran Church are having a new heating system installed in that church. The old equipment proved inadequate during the extremely cold weather.

Robert Miller and wife, of Chicago, spent several days with home folks on South street.

Mr. and Mrs. Neil Davis and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Curtin, all of Philipsburg, were guests of Mrs. Howard Burkett one day during the latter part of last week.

Interpreting

A poet, in fact, like any other artist, must not simply transcribe nature. He must interpret her; and as she is too vast to be interpreted under all her aspects, he must select. Whether this selection is conscious or unconscious, it must be prompted not merely by his physical environment, but also by his intellectual attitude toward external nature.—E. Sykes.

Lot's Wife

On the island of St. Helena there is a curious and interesting rock called Lot's Wife. It stands erect on the crest of a ridge that runs across the barren and uninhabited part of the island, and it is supposed to be a mass of lava long ago forced up through a crack in the crust. It is nearly or quite 300 feet high and when seen from a distance bears a striking resemblance to a draped human figure of tremendous size.

First People in Britain

Geologists are not yet agreed when and by whom Britain was first peopled. Real knowledge began with the two Celtic invasions, that of the Goidels, in the latter part of the Bronze age, and that of the Brythons and Belgae in the Iron age. By the time of Julius Caesar all the inhabitants of Britain, except perhaps some tribes in the North, were Celts in speech and customs.

Old English Residence

Probably the oldest inhabited house in England is Laddesdown court, Kent. The late Sir W. St. John Hope said that it dated from "1120 or perhaps earlier."

[illegible] Elliott, forty-one-year-old laborer, according to the divorce bill of Mrs. Flossie Elliott, filed in Superior court, became enraged at her on one occasion and kicked the windshield out of their automobile. Other allegations of cruelty are made.—From a news item in the Seattle Times.

Being One's Own Boss

"De man dat succeeds in bein' his own boss," said Uncle Eben, "is liable to find he's picked hisself out de hardest kind of a taskmaster."—Washington Star.

Wise Physicians!

In the Middle Ages physicians were accustomed to warn their patients against eating eels, because, in this way they would be sure to lose their colors.

Tested by Difficulties

Difficulties show what men are. If they do not overcome them they demonstrate lack of power in one direction or another. If they surmount them, they prove capacity of one kind or another. Difficulties test man as nothing else can.—Grit.

Monster Crabs

Many of Japan's quaint prints show the crab and fisherman on the beach. The king crabs found mostly off Japanese islands measure from 3 to 5 feet from tip to tip of their great claws, and there is a record of one monster which measured 10 feet from tip to tip.

DON'T GET UP NIGHTS

John Lumpkins, Dayton, Ohio, says: "Come to 7 Carrie St., and I will show you 25 pieces of travel that passed after taking Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula). Had to get up 12 times at night for two years. Alright now." Lithiated Buchu cleanses the bladder like Epsom Salts do the bowels, thereby relieving irritation, driving out foreign matter and neutralizing excessive acids. These are the causes of unnatural action of the bladder at night. Lithiated Buchu (Keller Formula) is not a cheap medicine. The tablets cost two cents each. Sold at leading drug stores or Keller Laboratory, Mechanicsburg, Ohio. Locally at Stewart Drug Co.

Skirts Are Scanty

This very attractive frock is carried out in beige in two materials—dotted wool crepe and heavy crepe de chine. The skirt is very scant and the sleeves are plain and long, but all severity is removed by the scarf collar with its long fringed tassel and the interesting cuffs. This type of gown is very much in demand now.

Home of Half-Million Gulls

Pet Inglass on the coast of Cumberland, England, is one of the greatest haunts of seagulls (commonly called gelleries) on the British coast. Their breeding season ended with the last days of June. These beautiful birds are of the black-headed variety, and the chief game warden estimates that there are over 500,000 birds, which is regarded as a most conservative estimate. The gallery is situated on the Muncaster Castle estate.

Uncomplimentary Wit

Like the Scotch, the English can relish a joke on their native peculiarities. A recent book of British reminiscences includes this little-known story of the old duchesse de Duras and Montreal, the French wit. The duchesse asked the famous wit, "In your opinion, what animal the most closely resembles man?" Montrond reflected for a minute and then replied, gravely, "L'Anglais, duchess."

New Treatment For Varicose Veins and Ulcers

Swollen veins are dangerous and often burst. Sufferers are advised to get a two-ounce, original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength), at any pharmacist and start to reduce the veins and bunches at once.

Physicians recommend Emerald Oil it is used in hospital practice and a small bottle will last a long time, because it is very concentrated and a little goes a long way. Apply night and morning with a soft brush as directed until the swelling is reduced to normal.

So marvelously powerful is Emerald Oil that swollen glands and even goitre disappear when used steadily.

DAWES TO INVADE THIS STATE OCT. 21ST, 22ND, 23RD

By ALBERT F. BAENZIGER
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent.)

Chicago, Oct. 16.—Details of an intensive speaking tour which will carry him into Pennsylvania, West Virginia, New Jersey, Delaware and New York for a whirlwind windup of his campaign were announced for General Charles G. Dawes by the speakers' bureau of the Republican national committee here today.

The Republican vice presidential candidate will make the first speech of the tour at Philadelphia at noon October 21. He will speak at Pittsburgh at noon October 22 and that night will give an address at Wheeling, W. Va.

From Wheeling he will go to Lancaster, Pa., for a noon address October 23 and that night he will speak at Wilmington, Delaware. He will give night addresses at Newark, N. J., October 24; Brooklyn, October 25, and Rochester, N. Y., October 27.

Dr. and Mrs. Ward O. Wilson, who have been spending the past ten days in Philadelphia and Atlantic City, will arrive home this evening.

SICK WOMAN MADE HAPPY

Entirely Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Mart, Texas.—"I have taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build me up as I was all run-down, nervous and sick. I ached and hurt all over so that I was often compelled to go to bed, and I had to have most of my work done. No medicine seemed to help me until one of my neighbors who was taking the Vegetable Compound insisted on me trying a bottle of it. The medicine helped me from the first, and the best of all is that I can even sew again without that awful, nervous feeling I was used to having. And I used to take crying spells, with such a blue feeling that I cannot explain. Now all that has left me. I feel so cheerful, and I have gained in weight, sleep well and eat hearty. Oh! I wish I had words to express what this medicine has done for me! I am a housekeeper and do everything from the sewing to the washing now and it doesn't hurt me. You may use my letter in any way you wish. I will be glad to help any suffering woman to the road of health and happiness."—Mrs. B. F. BRANNON, 404 Travis Ave., Mart, Texas.
